British Dirigible On Way Back To Cardington Port

WINDS HELP ASSURE QUICK PASSAGE HOME

One Motor Dead but Chief Expects to Make Trip in Fifty Hours

BULLETIN S. S. Laurent—(AP)—The British dirigible R-100 passed over this vessel in the straits of Belle Isle at 3:20 p. m. French meridian time (10:20 a. m. E. S. T.). The weather was clear and a mild west wind was blowing.

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal—(AP)—The British dirigible R-100, was making fast time today on an eastward crossing of the Atlantic toward its home station at Cardington, England.

With one of its powerful motors out of commission, the largest lighter-than-air liner in the world cast off from the mooring tower here at 8:26 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday and headed down the St. Lawrence valley.

In addition to its complement of 44 officers and men, the airship carried 13 passengers, including two official observers and a group of press representatives.

Despite the handicap of one dead motor, Squadron Leader R. M. Booth and his officers expected to make a quick crossing aided by following winds and the up at Cardington Saturday morning. Their estimate for the trip was 50 hours, which would give the R-100 the record for an eastward transatlantic voyage, about six hours less than the best time of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin.

Circling over Montreal in a last gesture of farewell, the R-100 headed down the river. An hour and 24 minutes later it was sighted over Three Rivers, Que., flying at the rate of 50 miles an hour. Picking up speed, the airship arrived over Quebec at 10:45 having covered the 163 miles from Montreal in 2 hours and 20 minutes.

The R-100 carried only two items which could be listed as freight on her return voyage. One was a bunch of peonies for King George sent by Viscount Willington, governor general of Canada, and a basket of peaches addressed to the Prince of Wales from Premier Ferguson of Ontario.

HIGHWAY MEN CONFER ON ROAD IMPROVEMENT

The county highway committee and the boards from the town and village of Black Creek, and representatives of the state and federal highway departments were at Black Creek Thursday morning to confer on changes in an underpass on Highway 54, just west of the village. The underpass was constructed about a year ago by the state highway department. After every storm the water gathers there and impedes traffic. The conference, according to Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, will discuss means of eliminating the trouble.

An athletic rivalry of long standing will be renewed at Stroebe's island Saturday afternoon when members of the city street department and employees at the city hall strive for supremacy in a variety of events at the annual picnic.

A picnic lunch at noon will open the day's activities. Highlights of the afternoon's program will be a softball game, a tug-of-war, horse shoe pitching, and a number of other games. Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Still smarting under the sting of two successive defeats in the last two years, the street department softball team has been working out diligently during the past week, and reports have it that the boys have been clubbing the ball with a vigor that bodes no good for the city hall gang.

MANN SHAPES G. O. P. GROUP IN DIXIELAND

Says Organization Will Be on "Principal Rather Than Patronage"

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Horace A. Mann, southern campaign manager for President Hoover in 1928, who recently warned that his followers would brook no "outside interference" in southern party affairs, today was engaged in perfecting a permanent Republican organization in Dixie.

This group, he announced, will be based on "principle rather than patronage," and will carry on an aggressive educational campaign using radio addresses, literature and newspapers.

Announcement of the new organization issued after a two-day meeting here of his followers, came on the heels of his warning to administration forces in general and Postmaster General Brown in particular, that his followers would not stand for "designating political high-jackers" invading their states every four years to obtain delegations to the party national conventions. His organization was decided upon at a meeting last month in Savannah, Ga. A charter, he said, will be applied for in Atlanta shortly and a list of permanent officers will be made public then.

Mann said today his movement was not for or against any faction or candidate but was aimed at giving the popular political thought of the south a means of expression. He maintained the Democratic party—traditionally in the saddle since the Civil war—had fallen into the hands of "northern city political machines, corrupt organizations interested only in jobs, contracts and licensed lawlessness."

"This leadership," he said, "is alien in spirit to the south. It has taken the solid south for granted politically and treated it accordingly." The Republican party on the other hand, said Mann, had viewed the south as "enemy's country."

ASK NEW U. S. FOREST UNIT IN ASHLAND-CO

Ashland—(AP)—A request for a new national forest unit, to be formed from 190,000 acres of delinquent tax land in Ashland-Co., will be presented the National Forest Reservation commission at its meeting next fall.

The county board has decided this Board of Price and Sawyer-cos will decide later whether their lands adjoining Ashland-Co shall be included in the scheme.

The establishment of a new unit will eliminate a large portion of the present $120,000 delinquent tax burden carried on the county books. It was pointed out. If the commission approves the Ashland tract, the land will be appraised and the federal government either will pay back all taxes or pay from $1 to $2 per acre.

Persons now holding land suitable for agricultural purposes would not be obliged to sell to the government.

REPORT REDS ADVANCING IN CHINESE AREA

Nanking and Three Sister Cities on Yangtse in Grave Danger

Nanking—(AP)—Communists today were reported advancing against this Nationalist government capital and the sister cities of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, 600 miles up the Yangtse river from the sea. This city was virtually defenseless and appeared doomed should the Reds continue their threatened attack. Few defenders remained within the 32-mile wall encircling the capital, practically all troops having been drawn to fronts on which the government and northern rebels are fighting for supremacy in China.

Uneasiness was rife here as peasants turned Communists and appeared in surrounding towns armed with rifles.

Many suspected communists were summarily executed at Hankow, where sandbag defenses were being erected and machine guns mounted. Thousands of terrified Chinese poured into the city, frightened from their outlying homes by the invaders.

A dozen foreign warships were anchored at Hankow, affording foreigners a means of escape in case of emergency. Many foreign commercial vessels also were anchored there ready to evacuate their nations.

Changsha, Hunan province capital recently sacked and burned by Communists, was reported recaptured by Reds.

Meanwhile rebels occupied the government on two fronts. Nationalist lines in Shantung and Honan provinces were pounded severely while Cantonese aviators, attempting to dislodge rebels from Nanning, Kwangsi province capital, bombed the French Catholic mission, nearly destroying it. An infantry attack accompanying the air raid caused heavy casualties among Chinese.

Nationalist troops were reported to have retreated in northern Honan province before the onslaught by General Feng Yu-Hsiang's troops, considered the best in China. The rebels were said to have seized large supplies of munitions.

600 PERSONS HOMELESS, 50 HOUSES DESTROYED

Masson, Que.—(AP)—Smoke and sorrow hung like a pall over this flame-blackened community today as residents set about caring for the 600 persons made homeless by a fire, that destroyed approximately 50 houses. Damage was estimated at $200,000. One woman died of shock.

The fire, which started in a kitchen stove yesterday destroyed an area a quarter of a mile square. Estimates of the extent of the disaster were made by the Rev. Monsignor Routhier, parish priest. His church was destroyed, but parish members helped to save the sacred vessels and ornaments.

The fire fighters were handicapped by lack of equipment. The only available water was in the Lievre river, about a third of a mile from the town. Appeals for aid were sent to Ottawa, 21 miles away, and Hull and Buckingham, but before they could send assistance, the flames were beyond control.

Mrs. Louis Leisen and family of Menominee, Mich. spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bruce, 24 E. South River-st.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for the day at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Downer's Inc. adv.

NORRIS LEAD NOW MORE THAN 27,000

Hitchcock Piles Up Large Majority in Nebraska Democratic Contest

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—United States Senator George W. Norris, foe of the Republican administration, who led his party at the last presidential campaign to support Alfred E. Smith, today had a lead of more than 27,000 votes over W. M. Stephens, state treasurer, for the G. O. P. senatorial nomination. Returns from 1,707 of the 2,930 precincts of Nebraska in last Tuesday's primary gave Norris 94,882; Stephens 67,084, and Aaron Read, 84-year-old anti-prohibitionist, 5,758.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Omaha publisher and former United States senator, had a commanding lead for the Democratic senatorial nomination, 33,205 votes to 14,485 for Dr. Jennie M. Collas, a dry, who bolted her party in 1928 to support Herbert Hoover and resigned as Democratic national committeewoman.

The primary gubernatorial races also were lop-sided. Gov. Arthur J. Weaver, Republican, candidate for a second term, polled 119,728 votes in the 1,682 precincts reported to 40,087 for H. O. Palmer, Omaha attorney.

Charles W. Bryan, former governor of Nebraska and the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1924, collected 58,814 votes in 1,634 precincts reported for his party's gubernatorial nomination. His opponent, Anton Jensen, a former University of Nebraska professor, had 12,331 votes.

KILL WIFE OF BOOTLEG KING IN ONTARIO

Ambushed in Garage After Automobile Ride With Her Husband

Hamilton, Ont.—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie Perri, who as wife of Rocco Perri, wealthy self-styled "bootleg king," was called mentor of the run ring which built up her husband's wealth during the days of the Ontario Temperance act, was shot dead last night on the back steps of her home. She fell under three charges, fired from two shotguns out of the darkness of the Perri garage where only a few moments before she and her husband had alighted from their automobile. Perri was unharmed as he stood maneuvering the garage doors, out of range of the guns. When Mrs. Perri screamed at the first shot, her assassins fired two more charges at her, then three men darted from the garage and escaped in an automobile parked in the alley. Police found two shotguns inside the garage.

Perri said he believed the murderers planned to rob his wife of jewelry valued at more than $10,000, but police said there was another motive, as the gunmen made no attempt to seize her jewels.

Police believed the men had intended to kill Perri. The couple had been visiting relatives and returned home shortly before midnight. The killers evidently knew of their movements and hid in a big sedan in the Perri garage.

Perri admitted, police said, that his wife was responsible for his fortune, having directed his former bootlegging activities.

No danger of freezing foods in other compartments.

*2—More Ice—Greater Ice Capacity in Kelvinator—Size for size, de luxe model Kelvinators have the greatest ice capacity of any electric refrigerator—providing ice beyond any average household requirement.

*3—Cold Storage—Separate compartment with Below-Freezing Cold for frozen fruits, and other delicacies; meats, fish and game. These should be kept extra cold—and you can keep them extra cold with Kelvinator's special facilities.

*4—Scientific Cold Range 40° to 50°—Main food compartment maintained at 40° to 50° degrees cold—eliminating all danger of spoilage which science says may be caused either by too low or too high a temperature.

*All of these 4 Degrees of Cold are produced AUTOMATICALLY—without thought or worry on your part.

MUNICIPAL COURT HAS BIGGEST MONTH OF YEAR IN JULY

Number of Defendants and Amount of Fines Sets Record, Reporter Says

City, county and state coffers were swelled by $1,026.69 collected in fines and costs from 138 defendants arraigned in municipal court during July, according to the monthly report of William R. Kreiss, municipal court reporter.

Mr. Kreiss said it was the largest amount collected in fines and costs in any month this year. It also was the largest number of defendants arraigned in court in any month this year. Arterial jumpers swelled both the money collected and the number of cases tried. County officers arrested 27 for this offense in July while city officers arrested 24 for the same offense.

The records show 102 persons were fined in July while nine were jailed; three cases were dismissed and 14 defendants were bound over for trial; there were 70 arrests under city ordinances, 35 under county statutes, and 32 under state laws.

Fines collected under the city ordinances totaled $213, court costs were $124 and officer's fees amounted to $58.90. Arrests under city laws were as follows: arterial jumpers, 24; parking offenses, 27; drunkenness, 11; speeding, 3; disorderly conduct, 3; reckless driving, 2; and one each for failure to have a dog license, disturbing the peace, drunken driving, passing a barricade and making a left turn.

All of the 35 persons arrested under county ordinances paid fines and all of the 35 were arrested on one of three charges. There were 27 arrested for jumping arterials, six for reckless driving and two for driving a car with the cutout open.

Drunken driving led the list of offenses for which arrests were made under state laws. There were five people charged with this offense. Other arrests were made as follows: assault and battery, 4; larceny, 4; failing to have auto license, 3; reckless driving, 2; passing worthless checks, 2; and one each for burglary, disorderly conduct, failing to stop after an accident, illegitimacy, selling mortgaged property, removing property without consent of the owner, peace warrant, lewd and lascivious conduct and statutory rape.

SECRETARIES WILL AID ROAD PROGRAMS

Commercial Organization Officers to Support State C. C. Plan

Members of the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries have been asked through their president, Kenneth H. Corbett, secretary of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, to plan for good road meeting in their respective areas and talk over plans for a state highway road building program.

The request for aid in crystallizing opinion on the road program comes from the state chamber of commerce. The state chamber recently conducted a referendum among chambers of commerce, commercial organizations, business leaders, and others, to learn their views on the project. Practically all were in favor of a new road program and their consideration of the matter which takes money second to those spent on schools, has prompted a campaign

NICHOLS TO HAVE TWO-ROOM SCHOOL WITH NINE GRADES

Village Will Experiment With Plan During Next Year—Hires 2 Teachers

Plans for the installation of a new two-room school in the village of Nichols are being made by the school board in that village, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Mr. Meating commended the village and the school board for this step which will provide a ninth grade next year for the 12 graduates of the school with the class of 1930. The addition of the ninth grade is made possible by the fact that there are no second grade students in the school next year.

Installation of the two-room plan at Nichols is in the nature of an experiment this year and the school board has made arrangements to rent a vacant church which will be used as an additional school room this year. If the plan proves successful arrangements will be made next year to build an addition to the schoolhouse to provide for the extra room.

One room this year will care for the pupils of the first, third, fourth and fifth grades while the second room will care for the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Mr. Meating said that all the graduates of the eighth grade in 1930 are planning to continue their studies.

Advantages of the two-room school, Mr. Meating pointed out, are to provide more time for each teacher to train fewer pupils and also to provide for more state aid for the school.

SCHNEIDER INDORSED BY RAILROAD WORKERS

Congressman George J. Schneider of Appleton, was indorsed for reelection recently at a meeting of the Wisconsin State Legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers at Milwaukee. The brotherhood also indorsed John Reynolds for attorney general. Both of these men have Progressives as opponents in the primary race. Schneider is opposed by Dr. W. C. Sullivan of Kaukauna and Reynolds is opposed by Alvin Reis, Madison.

to further acquaint people with the work.

Mr. Corbett said he would recommend to the secretaries that they follow the suggestion of the state chamber of commerce and aid in every way possible to keep the road program going.

Appleton To Send 3 Delegates To Hearing On Canal

PROJECT OF REAL IMPORT, MAYOR HOLDS

Goodland, Schindler and Bossler Will Represent This City

Appleton will be officially represented at a public hearing called by the U. S. Engineer's office, Milwaukee, at Oshkosh on Sept. 5 to take testimony concerning construction of a nine-foot barge canal connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi river, the common council decided at an adjourned meeting last night.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., Lloyd Schindler, city engineer, and A. C. Bossler, city attorney, were authorized to attend the hearing.

The River and Harbor act of July 3, 1890, requires a preliminary examination to be made of the waterway connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi river by way of Green Bay harbor, the Fox river and connecting waters, the Portage canal, and the Wisconsin river, with a view of providing a nine-foot barge canal, according to a notice received this week by Carl J. Becker, city clerk, from H. M. Tripp, Major, Corps of Engineers, district engineer, Milwaukee.

The notice further stated that "all interested parties are invited to be present or to be represented, particularly navigation interests and the officials of any county, city, town or local association whose interests may be affected by the improvements proposed. All present will be given an opportunity to express their views upon the subject."

WANT WRITTEN TESTIMONY
"Oral statements will be heard, but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing. In triplicate, as the record of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the war department. Written statements may be handed in to Mr. Tripp at the hearing, or may be mailed to him beforehand."

The hearing will be held at 1:30 in room 3, city hall, at Oshkosh.

"If the project is carried out, Appleton and other Fox river valley cities should benefit materially," Mayor Goodland told the council.

The council was unanimous in its opinion that the city not only should be represented at the hearing but should take an active part in the discussions.

W. Washington-st. between N. Richmond and N. Locust-sts. will be paved with concrete, the council decided. Although the council had scheduled a public hearing to permit property owners to express their pavement preferences, only one or two owners indicated any desire for concrete.

One indicated they desire for gravel, as this would cost only about half as much as pavement. Their objections to pavement were withdrawn later, however, thus ending a debate among the aldermen and bringing the question to an immediate vote.

Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden reported that the majority of property owners wanted concrete. He reminded the council that graveling had been started on the street and then discontinued, and he emphasized the necessity of improving the street at once.

Objection against paving the street without actual proof that the property owners want the improvement was expressed by Alderman Mike Steinhilber. He believed that the residents concerned either should have presented a petition for the work or should have appeared personally at the meeting to express their views to the council.

It was pointed out, however, that the council had decided several weeks ago to pave the street and that the purpose of the meeting last night was merely to select the type of pavement.

SEWER WADING POOLS
Two resolutions, proposing that the public grounds and building committee confer with the park board on proposed construction of wading pools in Erb park in the Sixth ward and in the Fifth ward playground, were adopted. One was introduced by Alderman Philip Vogt, the other by Alderman Vanderheyden. Alderman Vogt contended that children and youngsters were not cut back before the street was resurfaced, and that such facilities should be provided.

Upon recommendation of the fire and water committee, the council approved proposed installation of water mains on Parkway-bird, N. Appleton-st. to N. Superior-st. by Franklin St. Outrigger to Douglas-st. by Weimar. Candel to John-st. by Weimar, present terms to S. Weimar-st.

The council accepted the proposal of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to install live-wire signals at Eighth, Pierce-ave, Story-st, Becker-ave, and Outagamie-st.

Alderman Vogt secured the board of public works for its failure to report to the council on why the corners at the intersection of Washington and Outagamie were not cut back before the street was resurfaced. He reminded the council that the board had the project under consideration, but that the street was resurfaced without cutting back the corners, and that the board had not even told the council why the work had not been done. He suggested that such reports be submitted in the future.

VIRGINIA ACTS TO MEET SEVERE DROUGHT DAMAGE

Gov. John Garland Pollard Rallies Agencies to Meet Situation

BY EARLE LUTZ
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Richmond, Va.—(C.P.A.)—With Virginia suffering from the worst drought in its history, Governor John Garland Pollard is rallying all state agencies to meet an acute situation.

A preliminary conference has been held and the governor plans another on his return from the Hoover governor's meeting on Thursday.

Corn in Virginia is almost a total loss and tobacco has already suffered a 40 per cent loss. A hay shortage in the southwestern cattle section has added to the acute situation caused by dry creek and watering holes.

If rain comes in the next 10 days the apple crop in the northern section of Virginia will be saved. Tidewater Virginia has suffered less than the other sections and if the drought is broken soon late crops will be secure. Virginia Polytechnic Institute experts today reported as follows:

Pasture—A total loss at present throughout western Virginia.

Corn—Fifty per cent of crop in valley and southwest already lost. Apple—Thirty per cent loss.

Hay—Sixty to seventy-five per cent loss.

BIG TOBACCO DAMAGE
Tobacco—Forty per cent loss regardless of when rain comes.

Five hundred banks in Virginia have sent out questionnaires on crop damage together with a request that measures be taken to aid the farmers. County agents are making reports direct to the department of agriculture. The state is also seeking data from clerks of courts and from doctors.

Plans are being considered by Governor Pollard for wintering cattle from the valley and southwest Virginia in the tidewater section. A list of places available for pasturing is now being compiled. Many stock and dairymen already have had to sacrifice herds due to lack of water and pasturage. The large amount of livestock selling has flooded the market and brought prices to a record low in this season.

In West Virginia, pastures have burned up and gardens are a total loss. The losses reported are: Hay, 75 per cent; corn and oats 60 per cent; wheat 20 per cent.

The drought has been so severe in some sections of Virginia that water is hauled for miles. The marine base at Quantico had to send out a distress call for water which was rushed by barge from Norfolk, while additional pumps brought from Los Angeles by express were being installed. Front Royal is also having a big pump installed.

At Greenwood, in Albemarle county, water is being taken from springs inside a railroad tunnel.

Local showers in the past day or two have raised hopes, but the fall has been light and is so quickly absorbed that no trace of moisture can be seen in an hour. The forest fire hazard is adding to the worries of some sections. The timber is dry as tinder.

EXPECT 300 KIWANIS AT OSHKOSH PICNIC
Oshkosh, Wis.—Kiwanians of the eastern division of Wisconsin will gather here Tuesday, Aug. 25, for the annual intercity picnic and outing. More than 300 Kiwanians and their ladies are expected from all parts of the district.

Invitations in the form of talks by Oshkosh club representatives, letters and bulletin announcements, are being delivered to the clubs at Ripon, Beaver Dam, Menasha, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Appleton, Neenah, Manitowish, Seymour, Waupun, Plymouth and Chilton.

The spacious premises of the Oshkosh Yacht club, overlooking Lake Winnebago, and located immediately adjacent to Menominee park will be the picnic headquarters for the day. The evening banquet and dance will be held in the club house.

Clyde Springate, president of the Oshkosh club, is spurring all committees on to their best efforts and from each committee chairman has come the promise that Kiwanis visitors will be pleased and surprised with the accommodations and arrangements made for them.

WRIGHTSTOWN MAN ACCIDENT VICTIM

Theodore Dashner Fatally Injured When He Jumps from Truck

Theodore Dashner, 36, Wrightstown, was killed about 10 o'clock Thursday morning on highway 10 about a mile west of Fremont, when he jumped from a truck and landed on his head, fracturing his skull. He also suffered a fractured leg.

A doctor who was following the truck in another car examined the man and pronounced him dead. The body was taken to the Bauer undertaking parlors at Weyauwega. Dashner is reported to be survived by two sons at Wrightstown.

Dashner was riding with Andrew Hollar, Sherry, the two men having a truckload of horses they were taking from Sherry to Kaukauna. While passing a tilting machine on another truck, one of the horses became excited and bolted toward the cab in which the men were riding. Dashner is believed to have become alarmed and jumped from the truck to escape the horse.

A man who was following the truck in another car examined the man and pronounced him dead. The body was taken to the Bauer undertaking parlors at Weyauwega. Dashner is reported to be survived by two sons at Wrightstown.

ARREST 4 YOUNG MEN ON SERIOUS CHARGES
Four Appleton young men are being held in the Waushara-co jail at Watoma pending their arraignment in justice court at Berlin Thursday afternoon on charges of abduction of a minor for immoral purposes. The four boys were arrested Wednesday by Police Chief George T. Frim and Officers Gus Hershorn and Carl Radtke.

The girl 16 years old, who lives with her parents at Berlin, disappeared from a dance hall at Tustin, near Fremont, last Sunday night. Her escort, who returned home, said he couldn't find her. The last he had seen of her was in the company of two Appleton boys. Local police were asked to check up and the girl was found here Tuesday night. Sunday night she slept in a car owned by one of the boys and Monday night she slept in a garage. The girl returned to Berlin Wednesday with her parents.

FIVE APPLETON MEN AT TRAIL BUILDING CAMP

Schroeder, one of the council commissioners, Charles Wiedeman, Fred Marshall and Les Ransley, members of council troops, will leave Friday for the territory around Gresham lake, Wisconsin, where they will join other scouts building trails through the state forests. The work was started by scouts last year and proved so successful they again have been invited to spend two weeks building new trails.

HOLD BATHING BEAUTY CONTEST AT BEACH
A bathing beauty contest to select "Miss Wisconsin" for 1931 will be staged at Waverly Beach Sunday evening, according to Charles Maloney, proprietor. The contest is the only one in the state this year. Mr. Maloney said, and will give the winner the right to be named "Miss Wisconsin". Three silver loving cups will be awarded the winners of the contest, which is open to anyone in the state. The contest will begin at 10:30 and capable judges will make the selections.

Valley Scouts Help Fight Fires In Northern Woods

Thirty-one valley council boy scouts returned Wednesday night from the northwoods camp on Florence lake in Langlade-co, near Elton. Another group of 29 scouts went up to the camp Wednesday morning, to stay 10 days.

The boys who returned from their ten day outing Wednesday evening had a thrilling camp experience of the forest fires burning through the brush and cut over areas near the camp, according to M. G. Clark, valley council executive. However, there was no time when the camp really was in danger from the fire.

Rises have been burning in the region near the camp for several weeks, Mr. Clark said. The most troublesome blaze was originally located about a mile from camp and was reported by the boys on their arrival. However, no attention was paid to it until a week ago when it took on serious aspect.

A group of ten men from the Indian reservation then came over to battle the blaze but their efforts accounted for little. Last week Thursday 32 more men came to battle the fire and keep it out of the Menominee reservation. The men have been quartered at the scout camp using the boys' stove and a few supplies whenever needed.

Last Sunday the blaze approached to within about 100 yards of the scout camp but there was no need for alarm. Nine of the boys had been out helping the fire fighting crew Friday and Saturday, but when the blaze started near camp, the entire group went to work.

The fire at one time extended along a front about 14 miles long, Mr. Clark said, and proved unusually hard to put out. Sand thrown over parts of the fire line, stopped the blaze for only a short time and on return to the same place sparks had started the blaze in another section.

Parents of several boys were at camp last Sunday. Several left when they discovered how close the fire had approached while others wanted to take their youngsters home. None of the boys left, however.

Her ex-husband, Joseph Duprey, 50, did not contest the suit and his whereabouts is unknown. Mrs. Duprey charged that when she married Duprey he told her he had been divorced from a previous wife, but that he was not.

She was awarded custody of a minor child and $16 per month alimony. The Dupreys were married in Appleton on Sept. 6, 1928, and separated Feb. 25, 1929.

Governors of States Affected Meet President at National Capital

tern parts of that state, Northern Oklahoma, southwestern Nebraska, extreme northwestern Texas, southern Missouri, and all of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and along the Ohio River.

PRELIMINARY MEETINGS
The morning was taken up with preliminary meetings and discussions with farm board and agricultural department officials. The governors as they went from their hotels to conferences saw umbrellas and rain coats.

The extension of credit to farmers in the dry sections to enable them to carry on operations and prepare for another crop year drew more attention than any immediate action to relieve suffering.

Governor Leslie of Indiana, sounded the alarm on the crisis confronting the farmers. He made no proposition, awaiting the outline of a program by the president, but he said "it is money we need and must have."

"The farmers for the most part have nothing left to put up even as security for a loan," the Indiana Republican stated "and he must have money if he is going to try and carry on again next year."

There were indications President Hoover was going to make some comment on this subject to the conference. He has been busy seeking a program of cooperation between the government's intermediate credit system and the strong banks of the nation which would permit the working out of some credit system for the stricken farmers.

Attending in person were Governors Henry S. Canfield, Missouri; Louis L. Emerson, Illinois; Harry S. Leslie, Indiana; Meyer J. Cooper, Ohio; William G. Conley, West Virginia; John P. Pollard, Virginia; John E. Erickson, Montana; Clyde M. Reed, Kansas; John Hammit, Iowa, and Arthur J. Weaver, Nebraska. Governor Sampson of Kentucky sent Senator Robison as his representative and Governor Farnell of Arkansas, had Harvey T. Harrison, Little Rock attorney, and T. Roy Field, assistant director of extension of the University of Arkansas, attend for his state.

REPORTS ON SURVEY
President Hoover arranged to first give the executives a summary of the extensive survey of the drought areas which have been conducted under his direction during the past two weeks. Then the opinions of the state heads themselves, and their recommendations were sought. Chairman Legge of the farm board, and Chairman Bestor of the federal farm loan board, also had a place in the deliberations, while heads of large farm organizations have been summoned to meet with the president tomorrow.

As the governors gathered, the first large scale relief measure already was under way. Railroads were extending 50 per cent freight rate reductions to farmers in more than 300 counties in eight states, selected by Secretary Hyde as the ones most in need of immediate aid.

The states named were Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

The rates applied on feed shipped in an on cattle shipped to grazing grounds but not to market. On-guard against good profiteering as a result of the drought, the agriculture department undertook to put into effect today or tomorrow a system by which the consumer will have full information on the quantities of vegetables and fruit available at the principal markets. Daily reports will be issued giving the carload receipts at each point of cantaloupes, peaches, lettuce, onions, white potatoes, sweet potatoes and watermelons. They will continue throughout the drought period.

To this measure Secretary Hyde added the suggestion that there was no reason for any jump in food costs as a plentiful supply was on hand and the shortages lay only in cattle feed. He advised housewives against encouraging higher prices by hoarding.

CHARGE WORKER TOOK AUTOMOBILE PARTS

Joseph Schultz, Appleton, was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heineemann Thursday morning on charges of larceny and of having stolen property in his possession. Preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 23 and he was furnished $500 bonds. Schultz was arrested by Sergeant John Dupuy on complaint of Nick Reitzner, operator of the Appleton Wrecking company on Highway 47, just north of the city limits. Schultz formerly was employed there and Reitzner claims he carried off considerable equipment that had been salvaged from wrecked cars. Part of the equipment was recovered at Schultz' home.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGES DISMISSED

A charge of reckless driving against Alfred Alberts, Menasha, was dismissed by Judge Fred V. Heineemann in municipal court Wednesday afternoon for lack of evidence. Alberts was arrested by William Beckman, police captain of Wauwatosa, on Highway 47, just north of the city limits, and was taken to the city jail.

Miss Elva Carter has gone to Shawano, for a 10-day visit with Miss Lona Lang.

Dry Agents Confused By Maze Of Passageways

New York—(P)—Through a maze of passageways, false doors and blind stairways, more than 20 prohibition agents worked their way today hunting for an affinity between a storage warehouse in W. 26th-st. and the Phoenix brewery, a block away at 441 W. 25th-st.

Martin Hanson, deputy federal administrator, said the warehouse contained one of the most elaborate and confusing layouts he ever had encountered.

His men hammered on walls and listened for hollow sounds that might betray containers or liquids.

TOM THUMB GOLF KEEPS BUSINESS BALL A-ROLLING

Creates Brand New Industry and Furnishes Employment for Many

BY PRESTON S. KRECKER
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Wall Street, New York—(C.P.A.)

Play habits of the American public are creating a new industry in a depression year and helping to keep the business ball a-rolling.

Witness the popular craze for Tom Thumb golf and the enormous amount of material and labor going into construction of the toy courses, creating new outlets for materials, employment for idle men and keeping money in circulation while business is in the doldrums. An idea conceived in the brain of a Tennessee real estate man is not only giving the public a new form of profitable amusement but is already having interesting and important economic repercussions.

The fact that construction of toy golf courses is creating a new industry has been formally recognized by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Inc., and is the subject of special discussion in the August bulletin of that organization. The bulletin, commenting on the fact that the miniature courses create a new demand for lumber and thereby help to take up the slack caused by the slump in building, calls attention to the enormous potential consumption of the product of lumber mills that the latest sport craze involves.

DEMAND MUCH LUMBER
It estimates that fifty million dollars worth of lumber may enter into the construction of the golf courses and the community amusement centers of which they promise to be the nucleus.

The lumber bulletin's comment shows that creation of Tom Thumb golf links has become a real factor in the nation's industry. As a matter of fact, lumber is but one of the materials required in large quantities. Take the fairways, for instance. Proctor and Gamble, nationally known soap makers, have taken out patents for manufacturing green-colored cottonseed hulls into suitable substances for the courses.

Construction of miniature golf links already has resulted in expenditure of millions of dollars. It is estimated there are about 25,000 completed courses in the country, representing an expenditure of $125,000,000. Probably as many more are under construction, which would mean expenditure of an equally large amount. The work is creating employment for idle men in every community throughout the land, opening new jobs for course attendants and has resulted in a new profession—Tom Thumb golf links architects.

It is estimated that a course pays for itself in about two months, which means that $125,000,000 in addition to the expenditure in making the links is put into circulation. Thus a turnover of approximately $250,000,000 in the new sport is indicated. The rate is high as an economic factor in the community.

The growth of golf overshadowed that of all other sports in the United States today. It promises to eclipse baseball, now that the game has been placed within reach of high school boys and girls, clerks and other salaried folk with modest incomes. It is estimated that two million golf balls are made and used every year. The game also calls for the production of two million clubs every 12 months. With a new and popularized form of the game available, the demand for golf clubs and balls has been tremendously expanded. In fact it is already reflected in earnings of sport goods manufacturers. A. G. Spalding and Brothers, for instance, have reported an increase of 5 per cent in profits in the first half of this depression year.

The fact that the American public has several hundred million dollars to spend on a new sport shows that the country is far from being "broke."

"Lost Indian Tribe" Is Not Far From Appleton

BY LEO V. SANNON
A band of about 150 Chippewa Indians, known locally as "the lost tribe" live in extreme poverty in the vicinity of Mole Lake, on highway 55 across the line in Langlade county. The Indians are not lost at all, in fact they are not even strayed. They have never gone anywhere. The present members of the tribe were born in the vicinity, and their grandfathers and great grandfathers lived there. The records of the tribe show that they have occupied the same territory for at least 109 years.

However this group of Indians is lost in a more serious sense. They are lost in the tangle of negotiations carried on between the United States government and the Chippewa Nation, and in the red tape and records of the Department of the Interior. They are not "enrolled," which is one of the worst of the many calamities that can befall an Indian. To be enrolled means to have their names properly recorded as a member of some recognized tribe, and to share in the provisions made by the government for the Indians.

The members of the Lost Tribe of Chippewas are scions of the once wealthy tribe that owned no less than one-third of the state of Wisconsin, and large areas in Minnesota. The large areas of land were ceded to the federal government by a series of treaties negotiated by government agents dealing with the chiefs and the headmen of the tribes. The payments were a few thousands of dollars, some guns, ammunition, tools for farming or making weapons, and one suspects a few bottles of whisky.

The forefathers of the present members of the Lost Tribe were not informed of the trades and deals going on between their chiefs and headmen, and so when the Chippewas of this section of the state were placed on the Lac du Flambeau reservation, these few Indians remained to hunt and fish as they had always done.

FORESTS DESTROYED
Soon however came the great lumbermen, and the white settlers, and the ownership of land became a matter of importance. The destruction of the forests, the enforcement of the whiteman's game laws all bore down upon the Indians with cruel force. They have turned to the government again and again for help but to date have received little or none. About thirty-five years ago, the Indians received a per capita payment from the Federal government of $5.74, and that is the last they received, they say.

However, something is now about to be done for these lost Indians. Congressman George J. Schneider introduced a bill at the last session of congress appropriating $3,000 for an investigation of the condition and tribal rights of these Indians. The bill was amended to provide $24,000 for the investigation of all such bands of Indians, and it was agreed upon that the Chippewas in the lost tribe should be the first.

There will be a clinic at Crandon, Aug. 26, and at Waubesa, Aug. 27, at which time both the state and federal governments will join in an examination of the physical condition of the Indians in that vicinity. It is expected also that there will be a representative of the bureau of Indian affairs present to gather what ever data is possible with respect to the history of the lost tribe, and that eventually there will be a recommendation for proper legislation disposing of this Indian problem.

BUY SMALL LOTS
At Mole Lake there are five or six Indians who have purchased small lots, possibly 50 by 100 feet, upon which they have erected "humble dwellings." It was to the location of these lots that the party made its way. Some from nowhere, apparently, Indians appeared. A small kitchen table was carried out of one of the Indians homes and upon it, and the Indians and whitemen gathered around. The scene was suggestive of a new treaty with the Indians.

Willard Ackley, 40, a member of one of the well known Indian families of the tribe, produced a book containing all of the Wisconsin Indian treaties, and pointed out a treaty between the government and the Chippewas dated in 1847, whereby the Indians ceded to the Federal government a large area of land in Central Minnesota. The treaty was signed by a great many Indians, including "Kee-che-waub-ash-ash," First Chief, his (X) mark, Pelican Lake, and Nig-Gig, Second chief his (X) mark, Pelican Lake. The signers were the chiefs of the lost tribe, according to stories handed down to the members of the tribe.

The information was regarded as of doubtful value, and soon a courier appeared with "Long John Bear" who it was expected would remember a great many things of importance. Long John declared that he was "about 75," but added little more of interest, though he did add some verification to the story of the greatest disappointment the tribe has had to suffer.

During the administration of Chief Mages, the government was granting reservations to the various bands of Indians. One was established at Lac du Flambeau, one at L'Anse, one at Lac Goodway, and still another at Odawa. According to the traditions of the Lost Tribe one was to have been established at Post Lake.

TRIBE RECOGNIZED
At that time the Lost Tribe was recognized by the government and Mages was presented with two large silver medals, one bearing a likeness of John Quincy Adams and dated 1825, and the other a likeness of Franklin Pierce and dated 1853. These medals were placed on the table before the congressman with the explanation that they have been carefully preserved as a part of the tribal records.

The Commissioner who visited the tribe at that time drew up the outline of a reservation at Post Lake, 12 miles square. The terms of the agreement and all other information was written out, and the commissioner set out for Washington, so the story goes.

The commissioner made his way to Escanaba and boarded a ship to go down the lakes. However the ship was wrecked and all on board were lost. The Indians waited and waited, and it was not less than five years before they learned that the commissioner and his papers had never reached the capital.

That was the end of the negotiations, but it is the hope of the Indians that it will be revived now. The commissioner left a copy of the map for the reservation and the agreement with Mages. However, Mages on a hunting trip left the precious paper with a man named Johnson for safe keeping. Upon his return from the hunting trip his bundle had been tampered with, and the paper was gone. Johnson protested ignorance and innocence.

Years later Johnson became ill and being informed that death was inevitable, called upon a friend named Strauss, and told him where the paper was, and advised him that it was to be returned to Mages upon payment of a reward.

The Indians however never purchased the paper, and it is now said to be in the possession of another, who has exhibited it at times claiming a reward.

Something of the poverty of the Indians is apparent in the statement that the present possessor of the precious record is asking as little as $50 for it, but it is still seeking a buyer.

The Indians at Post Lake want their own reservation. They do not want to be sent to Lac du Flambeau, and neither do the Chippewas at Lac du Flambeau want them, for an increase in the reservation enrollment would mean a reduction in the wealth of the present population of the reservation.

Congressman Schneider hopes that eventually a piece of land, with at least 40 acres per family will be purchased by the Federal government and turned over to the members of the Lost Tribe.

HOW COULD YOU, HERMAN?
The Progressive line was formed early this year and started in to battle with a few desultory shots followed with drum fire and hand grenades, then as though the sizzling weather of last week was not bad enough, Herman L. Ekern was trotted out onto the field to fire off a few big Berthas. Mr. Ekern certainly brought something original into the campaign. For with the murder of Jack Zuta, Chicago gangster, still holding the front page Mr. Ekern lay the responsibility for "organized liquor rings, bank robberies and cowardly coldblooded murders" right directly at the door of Governor Kohler.

Though he holds residence in Wisconsin Mr. Ekern has a law office in Chicago and spends much of his time there. He has been in the atmosphere of "Big Bill Thompson, the Booster" and had seen him fight on a platform of "America first and down with King George", gnashing his long molars at His Majesty across three thousand miles of stormy ocean, while the Chicago populace laughed long and loud and voted right at all his clowning. And so Mr. Ekern has brought to Wisconsin something worse, some may think, even than gangsters and that is the Chicago style of politics with an application of that cardinal principle in warfare "Attack! attack! attack! whatever you do, attack!"

Continues Mr. Ekern: "Up to within less than two years ago (when Mr. Kohler's term began) Wisconsin was noted for its freedom from crime and the prompt and certain punishment meted out to the occasional criminal. Today the wrongdoers escape and crime increases." But really that isn't half the indictment that could be laid at the door of Governor Kohler. Mr. Ekern is too lenient. Until Mr. Kohler took office boys were not sitting up in trees night and day to make a record nor were couples stumbling over each other in marathon dancing for weeks without end. When Mr. Kohler took office Haiti and Bolivia were peaceful and now look at the turmoil. Hasn't the governor had something to do with the fearful drought this summer? King Carol got back onto that Roumanian throne but only when the stars were ripe in the heavens and Kohler was in the governor's chair. That ought to show that Mr. Kohler is at least a monarchist or should not monarchy be mentioned this year while the Wisconsin dynasty is in process of formation?

The ordinary citizen might think that Mr. Ekern could have served Wisconsin better had he from his vantage point in Chicago prevented those very gangsters from entering into this peaceful land but Mr. Ekern does not hold office in Wisconsin and is under no duty to protect its people. Being a stickler for the proprieties he wouldn't raise his hand. It was Mr. Kohler who should have been patrolling that Illinois line from his airplane and had the gangsters been decent enough to paint bright symbols on the tops of their cars he might have located them. No one should mention the fact that Mr. Ekern's bosom friend, John J. Blaine, while governor of Wisconsin freed more criminals perhaps than any other five governors put together. Nor yet that when Wisconsin courts and juries determine that men should be in the penitentiary Mr. Kohler has followed the practice of leaving them there to serve their time. That looks as though it might be a fair way of helping to protect the people of the state but it must be wrong.

SENATOR NORRIS WINS
There was considerable interest in the Nebraska primary, which resulted in the renomination of Senator George W. Norris. The regular Republican organization had made a determined effort to defeat Norris on the ground of his irregularity, but the rank and file of the party disagreed with it. The senator has a personal hold on Nebraska comparable to that so long enjoyed by the elder La Follette in Wisconsin, and with just cause. One does not have to agree with his extreme views on many subjects to recognize his virtues and the fact that he occupies a high place in public service. We think it was better to retain him in the senate than to displace him merely with a "regular" Republican. Unless the regular were better fitted and better disposed to represent the true interests of the people there could be no reason to nominate him.

While we believe in party government and think that only members of the party should be permitted to use the label (differing with Senator Norris in this respect) we also have the highest respect for independents, provided they operate and are politically classified as such. Furthermore, we believe the Republican party can stand a lot of liberalizing. Men like Mr. Norris may not be able to work a change in the policies of the party, but they quicken the public protest against reaction and help to educate the voters to more advanced lines of thinking. Mr. Norris' methods and remedies may not always be sound, but he is sincerely and courageously for the interests of the ordinary citizen first, last and all the time, and we need more men like that in the senate.

GOVERNMENT AND DROUGHT
We are constantly widening the functions of government. A generation ago no one would have thought that the federal government should take cognizance of a drought and attempt to relieve the injuries it inflicted upon the farmers. Today the energies and activities of the president are being directed toward assistance to the Midwest which is undergoing one of the worst dry seasons on record. The president has even given up his vacation plans and cancelled his trip to Yellowstone park for a month's recreation in order that he may give his full time to this emergency phase of the agricultural problem. Some 12 states are affected in a very serious manner. The time has now passed when rains will repair the damage. It may become a question of extending easy and long time credit facilities to the farmers along with other cooperative measures to be worked out. The railroads are joining with the government by putting into effect a 50 per cent rate reduction on farm commodities to eastern markets.

It is right that the government should interest itself in any general or national adversity. Its responsibility for the social welfare of the country has been recognized in countless ways. It can with equal propriety accept responsibility for the economic welfare of the people. There are under our political system qualifications to the rule, one of which is that there shall be a minimum of paternalism and a maximum of individual initiative and responsibility. Just what the government can do in the present crisis has not yet been evolved, but whatever it attempts within the limits of its resources and powers will have the approval of the nation.

S O NOW O'Brien and Jackson have done it. Ho-hum. Any more of these endurance contests and we see the possibilities for vacations. Harried business men and such will climb in a plane, take off, and spend several peaceful months in the air, far away from salesmen, bill collectors, people who show off their sunburn, benefit bridges and miniature golf courses. But, sadly enough they have radios in the darned planes.

It Was a Natural Mistake
One of our greatest burdens in life is finding our slippers. Whenever we can't find 'em, the little devils are always out in plain sight, behaving like perfect gentlemen. But let our bare tootsies crave for covering, and Oscar and Oswald Slippers do the hiding act.

T'other night we were looking for 'em. We pawed about the room, dug into the closet, ran around the place on our hands and knees. We even whistled and tried to tempt Oswald and Oscar with a piece of candy. Finally we crawled under the bed. There, in a distant shadow, we thought we saw Oscar. We reached and clutched.

But it was only a banjo case which Wild Bill of Wausau had carelessly left there.

Today's Anniversary
ERNEST SETON'S BIRTH
On August 14, 1859, Ernest Thompson Seton, famous American artist, author and lecturer, and one of the organizers of the Boy Scout movement in America, was born at South Shields, England.
Following his education at Toronto Collegiate Institute and at the Royal Academy in London, Seton served as naturalist to the government at Manitoba. He soon became prominent through clever stories about animals, although such veteran naturalists as John Burroughs and experienced woodsmen criticized him for ascribing to animals mental and moral characteristics not evinced in real life.
As one of the founders of the Boy Scout movement in America, Seton later started the outdoor life organization known as the Woodcraft League. In 1904 the organization was introduced into England with the aid of General Baden-Powell.
Among his writings, largely illustrated by himself are: "Wild Animals I have Known," "The Trail of the Sandhill Stage," "Lives of the Hunted," and "Woodcraft and Indian Lore."

BREATHING EXERCISE FOR BETTER CIRCULATION.
Recently we described here a belly breathing exercise which Dr. Israel Rappaport of New York, N. Y., had found beneficial in lowering high blood pressure. The simple exercise had brought about reduction of 30 per cent of the excessive pressure in the average case, and in some cases the good effect was maintained for a year or two.
At various times in the last few years I have described or quoted the author's description of a belly breathing exercise devised by Dr. Clelia Duell Mosher, medical adviser of women in Stanford university. This same belly breathing exercise has prevented and cured many cases of functional difficulty among young women.
But priority to whom priority is due. I have discovered a little book published in 1918, now out of print, on "Exercise and Set-Up," by Samuel Delano, M. D., a lung specialist of New Britain, Connecticut, in which the belly breathing exercise is clearly described and its physiological purpose or effect scientifically expounded, thus:
"To go on then with the full breath. Begin by 'blowing up' the abdomen. A good method is to lay the hands on the abdomen and make them rise to the extreme limit. The diaphragm plainly gives a sensation of descending. In this part of the act the chest above the imaginary plane is to remain completely at rest. Now, having done the first half properly and to completeness, get set, heave the chest from below and continue the drawing up quite to the chin, but without strain. The abdomen will follow, i. e., will become depressed, i. e., will be fixed, no air has escaped if proper care was taken."
Dr. Delano suggests three or four such breaths in a minute, as sufficient for one session, and the time when one retires at night as an ideal time for the exercise. He describes the effects thus:
"The effects are first of all as a tranquilizer. A sense of calm settles over one; the circulation is remarkably equalized... aspiration of the thorax is at work."
This author was careful to point out that
"One does not take a full breath so much for the purpose of getting in extra oxygen as to influence the circulation. The blood can take up oxygen only to the point of saturation... ordinary breathing will account for the oxygen end of the system's needs."
"The function of aspiration is a piece of physiology that is seldom referred to... it furnishes one of the readiest means of controlling the circulation."
Then he goes on to liken it to a donkey engine used to pull the water in a long range heating system back to the boiler from the distant radiators.
That is precisely what this belly breathing exercise does, no matter whether it be prescribed by Dr. Delano, Dr. Mosher, Dr. Rappaport or the conductor of this column. It pulls some of the more or less stagnant blood back from the general or greater circulation into the lesser, circulation (heart and lungs). So it tends to prevent or relieve congestion in the pelvic region, high blood pressure, insomnia, or what have you.
Believing this simple exercise of great value for many readers I described it here again, Thursday, June 8, 1930, following the instructions given by Dr. Mosher for men and women. In her excellent little book, "Personal Hygiene for Women" published by the Stanford University Press, California, at 25c.
Come to think of it I have a brief description of Dr. Mosher's breathing exercise in my book on "Personal Health" published in 1910.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Emergency Disinfection of Drinking Water.
Please give the method for making water safe to drink when one is touring in the country. I mean water one gets from well or spring or brook along the road. (Miss S. R. C.)
Answer—In a quart of water put a drop of common tincture of iodine. Shake it up and let stand 15 minutes before drinking. This scarcely affects taste, and is not too much iodine to take even if one drinks a gallon of the water. This method is obviously not suitable for constant use, but only for emergency disinfection of questionable drinking water. If the drinking water is to be disinfected constantly or thruout the season, one of the chlorin compounds would be preferable. A small vial of iodine is included in the tourist's first-aid kit, which you should carry in your pocket. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for directions for the assembling and use of the kit.

The Tynymites

THE foreign lads were very pleased. The Travel Man's big hand they squeezed and he said, "Oh, we thank you heaps for all these dandy cakes. And now we know we've had enough. It isn't very wise to stuff. Whenever a youngster overeats his tummy always aches." "You're right," replied the Travel Man. "I'm glad you've eaten all you can and still are smart enough to stop. You lads have been taught right. The Tynymites can learn from you, it seems, the proper thing to do. The way my little fellows stuff sometimes is quite a fright."
Said Scouty, "Gee, I guess we do eat much too much when we're with you, but that's because you always pick the things that taste so good. From now on we will try to be more thoughtful and eat sensibly. We know, of course, it doesn't pay to eat more than you should."
And then the Tynymites, m'd much noise, bid good-bye to the foreign boys. "We hope to see you all again," cried Scouty, with a smile. "We're going now to see a street which we are told is quite a treat. Course you can join us, if you wish. It's only 'Burr's' mile."
But one good looking foreign lad replied, "Thanks, but it's just too bad. We cannot leave our neighborhood. We must stay right near home. We have no Travel Man with us, and if we leave our folks we'll fuss. We only hope you have a wonderful time, wherever you may roam."
The street the Tynymites had in mind was not so very hard to find, and when they reached it, my "Burr's" queer, and narrow as could be, each horse had store steps out in front and Corry said, "That's quite a stunt. It makes a dandy place to sit. That would appeal to me."

(The Tynymites see an odd sight at a well, in the next story.)
Now that the Navy has ordered training picture equipment installed on battleships perhaps the famous "Burr's" mile will be changed to read "Burr's" Navy-Admission Fifty Cent."
SEEN AND HEARD In New York
BY RICHARD MASSOCK
New York — Around the modern gangsters have grown up legends similar to the tales of the old Robin Hoods.
In the old days the outlaws robbed the rich, and gave to the poor. Now they give most anybody they can, but still they like to be known as benefactors of the oppressed, thereby, no doubt, gratifying a native vanity.
This is how it sometimes operates on Broadway:
There is, on Broadway, a young and ingratiating night club entertainer whose personal life appears to be impeccable, but whose admirers include some of the town's toughs.
One night he dropped into a cabaret and there was greeted by his strong-arm friends.
In the course of the conversation, he remarked that the other entertainers at a club where he worked had been given rubber checks for the last week's salary and he supposed his pay check, for $500, would bounce back, too.
"It that so?" said one of the gangsters. "Well, listen buddy, you owe me half a grand, see? You give me your I. O. U. for it now."
The hoofer scribbled out the I. O. U. and gave it to the muscular pal, who got up and went out.
Fifteen minutes later he was back with $500 in cash, which he handed over to the hoofer.
"How did you do it?" the latter inquired.
"Oh, that was easy," said the gangster. "I just walked in, told the boss you owed me some dough, showed him the I. O. U. and said I'd take it in cash and right away."
MODEL
Hope Williams, the Social Register actress now resting on her ranch in Wyoming, introduced a type to Broadway that has been widely copied since she first appeared on the stage in "Paris Bound."
It is that of the sophisticated, clever young woman, with a debonair slouch, a line of wisecracks and an unemotional face, which Broadway describes as a "dead pan."
That she has so many imitators is interesting in the light of how she happened to be cast for the first role.
It seems that Philip Barry, who wrote "Paris Bound," asked Otto Chaffield-Taylor, the director, if he could find for the leading role a Junior Leaguer who did not know how to act. Chaffield-Taylor said he thought he could and Miss Williams was his selection.
HE WOULDN'T MIND
Ocean liners always take orchestras to sea with them and during the summer travel season they have to put on extra musicians.
Before hiring a new orchestra this summer, one line official said to the leader:
"You understand, of course, that if anything happens on the ship and it stinks, the orchestra is supposed to play while it goes down."
"That's okay," the leader said. "My boys are so well rehearsed they can play all right without me."
AMBITION
A certain Madison avenue shop specializes in bon voyage baskets of fruit and candy. The arrangement of these baskets, which range in price from $3.50 to $15, is left to one employee, who has been doing it for more than 15 years.
The other day he confided to a customer that he never had been on a boat in his life, and that he is saving his money for just one purpose—to make an ocean voyage and see where his baskets have been going to all these years.
John G. Carlisle of Kentucky, who was speaker of the house from 1883 to 1885.
Senator Gillett was 73 years old when he was called by his party to make the race for senator. Some said he would have preferred to remain speaker of the house, but he accepted the call and won out.
As a golfer, he ranks with the best in congress. His interest in baseball and tennis little less. As an undergraduate at Amherst, he was a member of the varsity baseball team and captained the nine.
Cal Coolidge wrote that the reigning party wits in Canada became, because of a business depression. Of course he didn't go so far as to name what effect the same cause might have on the present administration here.

31,287 DEATHS IN STATE LAST YEAR, DEPARTMENT SAYS

Number Reached 31,788 in 1928 — Measles Deaths
Increase

Washington, D. C. (AP)— There were 31,287 deaths in Wisconsin during 1928 as compared with 31,788 in 1928, the Department of Commerce announced here today.

Death rates for 1929 were not computed because 1929 census figures would make such rates unreliable and they would have to be materially revised on the basis of the new census, the department said.

Deaths from measles increased from 12 in 1928 to 66 in 1929 while from whooping cough from 79 to 121. In 1928, however, there were 154 and 175 deaths, respectively, from these causes. Deaths from diseases of the heart and cerebral hemorrhage and softening increased "steadily and considerably in each year from 1925 to 1929," the department said, but added that deaths from diphtheria, tuberculosis, diarrhea and enteritis, under two year, and congenital malformations and diseases of early infancy decreased.

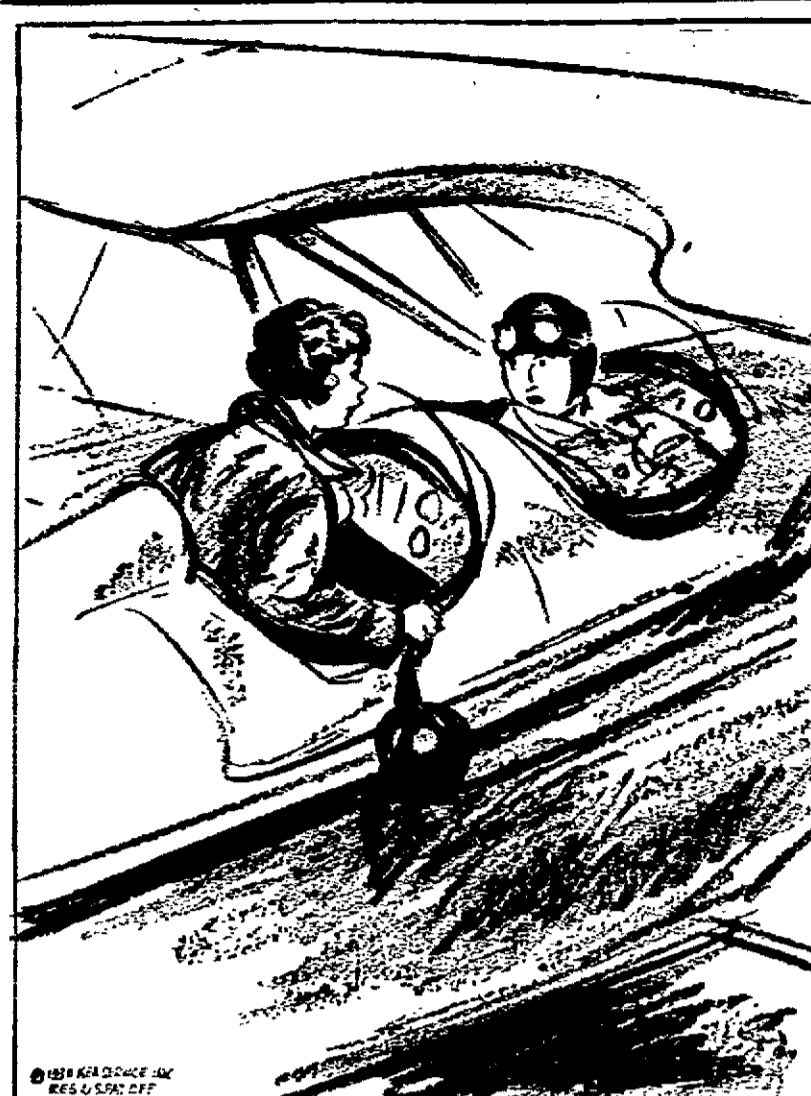

Other important decreases in deaths from 1928 to 1929 were from influenza, diabetes, mellitus, pneumonia, all forms, and encephalitis. Deaths from suicide increased from 404 in 1928 to 453 in 1929. Deaths from accidental and unspecified external causes increased continuously from 1,750 in 1926 to 2,295 in 1929 and the increase of 118 from 1928 to 1929 was nearly accounted for by the increase in deaths from accidental falls which went from 420 to 518.

Although the number of deaths from automobile accidents, excluding collisions with railroad trains and street cars, decrease by eight from 1928 to 1929, the number of deaths from this cause increased from 934 in 1926 to 612 in 1929, or 60 per cent in the four-year period, the department said.

The greatest number of deaths for any single cause was 6,176 attributed to diseases of the heart. Cancer and other malignant tumors caused the death of 3,248 and were the second most important causes of death.

GRETA GARBO TAKES JOKE GRACIOUSLY

And When It Is Over, She Laughs With Rest of Party

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright, 1930, by Cona Press)
Hollywood, Calif. (CPA)— It isn't often they put one over on Greta Garbo. The story of how Jeanette MacDonald and Ernest Lubitsch, the director, did so the other evening has just leaked out. Miss Garbo, who seldom attends social functions, went to a small and informal dinner at the Lubitsch home. Among the guests was Miss MacDonald, singer, actress, and lover of practical jokes.

"What name?" inquired Miss MacDonald when Miss Garbo had been introduced. Mr. Lubitsch repeated the name loudly. "Miss Garbo?" said Miss MacDonald.

"Pleasant evening," observed Miss Garbo. "Tennis?" Miss MacDonald replied with enthusiasm. "Oh, I love it," "I said," stated Miss Garbo. "It's a pleasant—"

"Really?" Miss MacDonald answered, inspecting her plate. "I thought it was chicken. Imagine!"

Mr. Lubitsch made signs to Miss Garbo. He touched his ear, murmured, "poor girl!" and so, far, far, into the night, Miss Garbo shouted at Miss MacDonald any amount of polite conversation which Miss MacDonald misunderstood.

"But how can she sing," Miss Garbo said at last in a murmured aside to her host, "when she cannot hear?"

"Well, it's like this," Miss MacDonald responded to the murmur, "I just open my mouth—"

The famous Garbo eyelashes lifted in astonishment at this evidence of the MacDonald acute hearing. There was the sort of hush which might ensue if somebody popped a crowned head with a bean shooter. And then, because Miss Garbo is among those crowned heads who can appreciate a joke upon themselves, there was hearty laughter.

LEGIONNAIRES PLAN CONVENTION TREK

Plans for invasion of Sheboygan and state convention halls of the American Legion, by members of Oney Johnston post next week, are almost complete, according to post officers.

Delegates to the convention and post officers will attend the opening day's meeting Monday, Aug. 18, and the remainder of the veterans will arrive Tuesday, the day of the annual parade.

Tuesday's contingent will be led by the high school band, which will march in the afternoon parade. A float from the local post also is entered. Veterans who have cars and are driving to Sheboygan have been asked to take man who have no means of getting to the convention. C. O. Baetz is handling arrangements for the trek to Sheboygan.

RELEASE PHEASANTS WITH CARE, WARNING

Madison (AP)— The success of stocking pheasants in Wisconsin has apparently been handicapped by the way the birds is let out of the bag.

William F. Grimmer, superintendent of game for the state conservation commission, today asked sportsmen and conservationists to release pheasants in easy stages.

"The general practice in the past has been to knock a board or two off the shipping crates and hurry the birds out," he said. "This causes them to fly great distances in their flight and frequently they do not get together again."

Supt. Grimmer advocated the construction of temporary pens for the birds until they become accustomed to the locality. He also asked that winter feeding stations be established at the point of release in order to keep pheasants in one locality.

Encampment Attracts 2 Local Men

W. H. Zuehlke, commander of the state department of Spanish War Veterans, and Louis Jeske, state department quartermaster, will leave Saturday for Philadelphia, where they will attend the national encampment of Spanish War Veterans from Sunday to Friday.

The two local men will join a special train at Chicago, traveling over the Baltimore and Ohio line to the east. They will be a part of a delegation of from 100 to 150 veterans from Wisconsin. In view of the fact that Milwaukee is seeking the 1932 national encampment meeting, that city will send a large delegation to the convention.

President Hoover, the president of Havana, Cuba, an honorary member of the Spanish War Veterans association who was an officer in the Cuban army during the Spanish American war, and a number of prominent army and navy officials will address the convention. Governor Fred C. Green of Michigan, commander-in-chief, will be in charge of the meeting.

Candidates for the office of commander-in-chief for next year are Supreme Judge Mathias of Ohio and a man from California who at present is senior commander-in-chief.

During the convention, a spectacular war maneuver will be put on at the army and navy yard, and the delegates will spend one day at Valley Forge.

Wisconsin headquarters will be at the Bellevue Stratford hotel.

Hints For The Shopper

The greatest difficulty facing the shopper in selecting leather goods is the price of spurious leathers. This means the separation of the top grain, or outer hair side, from the flesh side of the skin, thus making a single hide produce double its area of leather.

A split skin is the name for the "flesh side" of the skin. It is often painted or dyed, or is even specially processed to imitate other leathers. Black or colored leather suitcases, hat boxes, handbags, and the like are often split skin and should not be bought as first-grade products unless the shopper has first established the fact that the leather is top grain.

As soon as this distinction is understood the shopper can know why certain leather goods are priced with such much more cheap than others of apparently comparable grade.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A S Miles Roberts' car drew up at the entrance of the clubhouse Sue had a fleeting memory of another dance that she had attended one night. It had been June then and the moon had a touch of colored magic in the silverness that it splashed across the long veranda. She had gone as Harry's guest, and Jack had been there, and Sybil Lester had tried her crystal-stealing stunt. Tonight Sue knew that she need not worry about being unwelcome, but she need not look eagerly for Jack's tall, lithe figure with its shock of tawny hair and laughing gray eyes. Memory of Jack brought back the memory of the orchids which had not arrived.

Now it was winter. Jack was gone.

Already the orchestra was letting gay remnants of music drift through the door, onto the porch and down the street. Sue remembered the white dress, the slippers banded in silver, the deep sapphire blue of her own eyes and the cluster of curls she had coaxed into a soft round ball at the nape of her neck, and felt happy.

Barbara already had arrived. Sue found her in the dressing room, looking like an old-fashioned doll in her bouffant silk organdie skirts which were splashed with old-fashioned garden roses, orchid instead of pink, and little black velvet bows that set off her aureole of golden hair. The ruffled collar, which gave a piquant touch to the dress, was crossed in front.

Sue looked closer. A corsage of lovely, fragile orchids had been placed where the collar crossed.

"Oh, hello, Sue. How pretty you look! I thought when I saw Corinne in that gown the other day that you would look better in it than she did! You have more dignity, you know."

Barbara went on dusting powder over her perfect nose while her voice clothed its bars in a sheath of golden softness.

"Don't be frightened, Sue. No one else saw the gown. We were guests at the same stiff and formal out-of-town dinner party once." She laughed. "In the days when Jack was the other puppet in my Jack and Jill stunt. Men are funny aren't they? You know I sent him away, but last night, before leaving, he ordered these orchids for me. They came this morning with just his card."

Sue knew that outwardly she went right on adjusting her own coiffure, dusting her cheeks with deeper rose, making non-committal answers. A hot, frightened pain seemed to grasp her heart, her head, her hands, everything! She wanted to call out to Barbara, that she, too, had received some flowers, even if they hadn't come. She heard her voice speaking.

"They're lovely, aren't they? Jack sent me some, too, but mine was evidently misplaced somewhere. His note talked about them but they didn't get delivered. Evidently he was saying farewell with flowers to all of us. Here's Sarah now. Sarah did Jack leave an orchid for a forget-me-not with you, too?"

"With me? Of course not. Has he bought a green house?" Sarah rambled on, while Sue pushed down the thought that Jack had remembered to send flowers to Barbara... Barbara whom he himself said he didn't love and whom he had left... She hated Barbara for daring to pretend that she had sent him away.

Filling the icebox with scraps of leftover food is a waste of room and usually of food. Never allow them to accumulate.

A steamed pudding should not be uncovered for the first half-hour at least.

To brown pies and tarts, use a small pastry brush to apply milk lightly before putting them in the oven. To glaze pies, brush them with the white of an egg if you wish them to be a shiny brown.

When boiling ham, salt beef or tongue, which is to be eaten cold, you should leave the meat in the liquor until it is cold. The flavor is very much improved.

AGED PARROT TALKS OF OLD LOVE CRIME

Lisbon -- (AP) -- A parrot whose age is stated to be more than 180 years and which twice crossed the Atlantic Ocean with his master, King Joao VI, when Brazil was a Portuguese dominion, is the only living witness of a love crime, which to this day has remained something of a mystery.

Fleeing before the Napoleonic invasion of his country, King Joao, his wife, Queen Joaquina Carlotta and the court moved to Brazil, taking the bird on their enforced exile.

Dr. Silveira Cardoso, author of a new history, describes the murder of an Italian prima donna of rare beauty. He says she occupied a warm corner in the Portuguese monarch's heart and was stabbed to death by a British officer of the king's household, at the queen's instigation.

The only word uttered by the dying beauty was "Alorro," meaning "I am dying," which the parrot ceaselessly repeats.

The parrot remained in royal possession until 1910, when the Republic troops dispersed the retainers of King Manuel. It has since been cared for by an old footman who lives in a small town with the pet which has survived seven kings.

"What a wonderful help Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been to me. I was so nervous and rundown I couldn't be up half the time. When I had taken one bottle of Vegetable Compound I could tell I felt better, so I took seven bottles and I recommend it highly. It helped my nerves and keeps me strong to do my housework and wait on four little children. I hope some other suffering woman will try it."—Mrs. Porter L. Arnold.

WE WOMEN

by Betty Brainerd

By Betty Brainerd
DRIVE ON!
"Dear Betty Brainerd: Will you do me a favor? My husband reads your column daily and if you can conscientiously do so, I wish you would write a piece for his special benefit. "We have an automobile. Although I helped pay for it by putting so much away from my household expense money each week, my husband now objects to my driving it."

"He argues that no woman should be allowed to drive a car because we are all by nature nervous, easily excited and upset—and therefore incompetent to handle a steering wheel. It makes my blood boil the way he treats me—and causes all kinds of arguments and unhappiness to me. Will you write your opinion?"

With pleasure! Ask any automobile agency which drive better—men or women. Ask any policeman what his proportion of arrests are—men or women. And that old stuff about women "vamping" officers simply isn't done any more.

I have inquired at several automobile shops and they tell me that women are by nature more careful than men—that in their care tires last longer and that repairs cost less.

Women may be more outwardly nervous than men—but that makes for greater caution.

I have been on a scenic railway, which races up and down the bumps at a whirlwind pace. Along with other women, I have screamed as I shot the chutes.

I have never heard a man scream in such a situation but there is no doubt in my mind that they all feel the same way about it. They simply express themselves differently—either silently—or by laughing in an odd way. There is no difference between silence, a laugh of this sort, and an out-and-out scream.

We are neither more nervous nor less—we scream when startled, whereas a man may only grunt—but men and women alike suffer at the instant of fright.

There are many women fliers—200 operating as licensed pilots and the number steadily increasing. These women are culled from all walks of life—society girls, school teachers, waitresses, stenographers, high school girls. At first they were regarded as romantic figures but now their practicability has been demonstrated.

A cool head, steady nerve in an emergency, and accurate judgment are the necessary requirements in flying—and women have proved they have all these qualities.

You seldom hear of women in accidents. Why?

Our Children
By Angb Patri

BROTHERLY LOVE
"We have two boys, eleven and thirteen. They are good boys; bright boys. Everybody speaks well of them but we are nearly beside ourselves because of their quarreling. They can't seem to understand that brothers should love each other."

Each child has his own friends. Let them take turns in entertaining and expect some cooperation from the others in this matter.

Do not force one brother to give in always to the other. Each has his own rights; each his own duties. They will get along very much better in this in-between stage by this method. After they are adolescent they understand each other better and work and play and plan together in brotherly fashion.

Of course there are the rare children who never quarrel. And there are those, equally rare, who always quarrel. I should suspect that both cases needed a close scrutiny as to mental and physical health. Any physical defect is bound to have its reaction in poor mental health. Persistent quarreling with everybody is an indication of a rather serious situation. But the great group of normal healthy children quarrel among themselves as they grow up because it is in their nature to do so.

Separate them. Give them occupation. Permit them a wide association with other children and the trouble will soon pass.

FEW CHANGES SEEN IN MAJOR PARTIES

Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Oregon. They thus had sought re-nomination in 19 states in all parts of the Union. The number of Republican representatives thus seeking to succeed themselves was, till Tuesday, one hundred and thirty-three.

Every one of them, with the possible exception of M. A. Michelson, who faces a re-count, was re-nominated, in spite of the fact that they varied among themselves from the bluest conservatism to the pinkest progressivism.

MAJOR PARTIES FIGHT

It is thereupon held here that there has been no drift either way within the Republican party and that the chances of any change of policies on economic issues in the next congress depend upon the strength shown next November by the Democrats. The Democratic primaries so far, including the re-nomination yesterday of Senator Joseph T. Robinson in Arkansas, and the re-appearance as a Democratic senatorial candidate of Thomas P. Gore in Oklahoma, have revealed no important departures from old-time "normalcy." Even the disappearance from the Democratic lists of Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina, and of Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, the latter of whom is now a merely "independent" candidate for lack of support rendered to the Democratic presidential candidate of 1928, are taken as proofs that the Democratic party along with the Republican party is with few deviations, obeying the general order "as you were." The typical news is with regard to the contestants in the primaries for nomination to the federal house of representatives in the state of Oklahoma. This news is: "All sitting congressmen of both parties are re-nominated."

The only true change noted here so far is in the struggle between wet and dry. The primaries Tuesday gave the Democrats in Ohio and in Oklahoma two wet senatorial candidates, Robert J. Bulkley and Thomas P. Gore to balance off against the two new wet senatorial Republican candidates, Dwight W. Morrow and Albert John Galen in New Jersey and Montana. Both parties seem so slightly wettier, with the essential strategic difference only that the national headquarters of the Republican party in Washington is held by the dries and the Democratic headquarters by the wets.

DEMANDS CHIEF DO SOMETHING ABOUT POOR BEER

Neenah, — (P) — Chief of police C. H. Watts today pondered over a threatening letter which advised him to see that better beer is served over local bars or look for a new job.

The author, who signed himself "Sam Jones," said: "I stopped at — and called for a good glass of beer. I told him to give it to me out of the keg. He turned it out and I tried to drink it.

"Say, chief, it was the darnedest, sourest and rottenest drink I ever tasted. I could feel it frying up my windpipe like it was on a hot griddle.

"Now I think it is your duty to send a glass of your own over the town every day and have them taste all the beer, and where it is so rotten, have 'em throw it on the street. If you do not tend to this, you might as well look for another job."

GENERAL SHOWERS SOFTEN EFFECTS OF HEAVY DROUGHT

Expect Pastures, Orchards to Revive in Central Sections

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Chicago — (CPA) — General showers over the parched sections of eastern Kansas, over Missouri, a section of Arkansas and parts of Nebraska Wednesday had softened somewhat the effects of the unprecedented drought.

Reports from that section of the country, where the government crop report forecast severe damage, displayed a more cheerful tone. Pastures are expected to revive, orchards improve and corn, particularly in bottom lands, start ahead again.

These rains in the near southwest have followed good showers over the middle west and northwest, and have done much to revive the hopes of farmers.

I. B. Davis, assistant secretary of the state board of agriculture in Kansas, believes that the rain will help the corn in the lowlands and possibly restore part of the withered crop in higher prairies.

"It comes just right for the sorghum crops and may help save prairie hay and timothy," he advised.

In Missouri, Jewell Mayes, secretary of the state board of agriculture, said that the rain may cause revision of corn crop estimates. The lowland crop has a chance to complete its growth now, he pointed out. Emphasis was placed too, on the possibility of coaxing a fourth cutting of alfalfa from the ground now that moisture has appeared.

OPTIMISTIC IN KANSAS
S. D. Flora, meteorologist at Topeka, Kansas, was even more optimistic, expecting that the rain would save part of the corn, start pastures to growing, make another alfalfa crop and provide quantities of rough feed for livestock. Appearance of the downpour in addition, give many farmers the first water that they have had without hauling, in weeks.

Nat C. Murray, former head of the government crop reporting service, and one of the most conservative of private crop experts, points out that the most severe corn shortage this season will be in sections which normally ship in corn for feeding purposes. He pointed out that northern Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, and Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska had a defective yield of 1,246,000,000 bushels or a loss of only 118,000,000 as compared with last year. Southern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and Missouri, Kansas and states along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, Mr. Murray estimates, have a prospect of only 444,000,000 bushels, or 256,000,000 less than last year.

This will involve heavier shipping into areas that regularly import corn, but railroads already have announced that they will grant a 50 percent reduction on grain consigned to drought stricken sections. Various analyses of crop figures made by private experts here, indicate that the real suffering as a result of the drought, will be localized.

The Bergstrom team was defeated in the first game played at Oshkosh last week by a small score before a crowd of more than 4,000 people. Oshkosh will bring a large delegation of rooters to Neenah for the second game.

The Grocer team defeated the Wisconsin Telephone team by a 17 to 11 score in the last game of the series at Doty park diamond.

Your Birthday

"Leo" If August 15th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8:15 a. m., from noon to 1 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:40 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Astrological indications on this date will make you feel as though life was a game and that you could live victoriously on bread and cheese. You will be able to see good, nobility and kindness in those about you. You will experience ecstatic moods of the soul, and if you be an artist or writer you may try to reproduce your feelings by brush or word.

The child born on this August 15th will be active and lethargic by turns and highly emotional. It will have an inquiring mind and an agreeable disposition and will seldom worry. Its angers will be readily kindled and easily appeased. Influence of mother paramount.

You are a calm, restful being, who prefers to be a looker-on in life. You do not want too much activity, nor do you always want to be surrounded by people. Work and duties permitting, you enjoy to laze and dream and it repays you to do nothing in particular. You like to read serene, peaceful stories that do not arouse your complex emotions. You will never wear yourself out physically or mentally, because you do things slowly and easily. You do not worry as a rule, so you are saved from the sins of both hurry and apathy. As long as everything satisfies you, you do not care about the criticism of the rest of the world. You are indifferent to other people's opinions and you do not try to force yours on any one else.

There is a certain amount of originality in thought and action in your case. You are a clear thinker and you get correct mental impressions. You are very good humored as a rule, but you can be very stubborn and warmtempered. You are not a nagger yourself and you will not stand being the victim of one. Although you are reserved, you have a great desire for affection from others and you are slightly jealous in your friendships. Your home instincts are very strongly marked and you would make a very fond and unselfish parent. You would be inclined to spoil and humor your children — you would become their slave.

Joyous Foot Bath Then Lift Out CORN

Root and All—Out To Stay!

Two tablespoonsful of that amazingly refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a footbath which after 3 or 4 nights' soaking lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, too — root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn — and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores, each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn which can be lifted out bodily.

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet. Get a package of Radox at Schinatz Bros. Drug Co. or any drugstore and know the joyous comfort of corn and callous free feet—Radox is the modern, scientific method to remove corns which completely eliminates old fashioned plasters, dangerous cutting, skin destroying acids and obsolete methods. Skyline View Business Drawing Big Dividends

New York — (P) — Selling Manhattan's skyline at fifty cents a look has developed into a big business in the financial capital of the world.

It got its start 18 years ago when Leopold Jonas sold his theater ticket agency, leased the tower of the then new Woolworth building and began charging thrill-seekers for the view. It reached a new peak last week when 12,000 persons paid half a dollar apiece to travel in express elevators up 71 stories to the observatory of the Chrysler building and gaze out over New York, and its environs from a point 783 feet above Forty-second-st.

In the same week between 700 and 1,000 persons a day visited the Woolworth tower, a little more than 730 feet up, and some hundreds more ascended the crest of the Chanin tower, 650 feet above the pavement, or to the tiny glass-enclosed gallery on the Manhattan company building, 360 feet over Wall-st.

Leopold Jonas is the biggest figure in the skyline business. The souvenir trip in the Clouds corporation, of which his son is president, leases the Woolworth tower, and he himself is president of the Metropolitan Vistas corporation which holds the lease on the Manhattan company tower.

In addition his Photographs Reproduction company holds the franchise for the distribution in North America of 5-cent picture postcards of New York views, sold in all the towers. In the Woolworth building one tourist has been known to buy a hundred postcards.

The Chrysler building, which opened its tower to the public last week, has challenged the Woolworth tower's eighteen-year supremacy in the Vistas industry, a supremacy which has brought to the Woolworth pinnacle since 1912 almost three million paying visitors.

"On a holiday it is not unusual for 2,500 or 3,000 persons to visit the Woolworth tower," an official of Mr. Jonas' companies said.

The owners of the Chanin building operate its tower more for the ad-

SEE COTTON AS CURE FOR COFFEE CRISIS

Sao Paulo, Brazil — (P) — With coffee overproduction starting them in the face, planters here are turning to other products, especially to cotton. The change may affect imports from the United States.

In a recent circular to planters the secretary of agriculture for this state advised the planting of cotton generally, and especially urged owners of coffee fazendas to use the space between the rows of coffee trees to produce cotton.

This is the largest mill city south of the equator and uses annually more than 40,000 tons of cotton. Much of this comes from northern Brazil states like Ceara, but droughts there interfere with the crop from time to time and Sao Paulo dealers chiefly imports, the United States being the nearest and cheapest foreign source.

CANNERS OUT IN CALIFORNIA EYE DROUGHT REPORTS

No Indication Yet, However, That Canning Plans Will Be Altered

BY BEN G. KLINE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
San Francisco — (CPA) — California

nia canners are scanning reports of the prolonged drought in the east and middle west with a view of estimating the effects, if any, that the unusual climatic conditions will have upon demand for vegetables and fruit packs of this state. There is little indication thus far that plans for late packs will be altered as a result of the drought.

The huge canning plant peach crop of central and northern California is now being put up, and canneries will be busy with this fruit for about five more weeks. An agreement between canners and growers sets this pack at 13,000,000 cases, whereas in the neighborhood of 19,000,000 cases could be canned were a market for such a large pack assured. Thirteen million cases is about the average of the 1925, 1927 and 1928 packs, and experience has taught the industry that a larger pack normally cannot be disposed of profitably.

"If the drought has so affected fruit crops as to create a danger of a diet deficiency in eastern parts of the country, we of course want to know about it so that we can increase the peach pack," a person prominently identified with the canning industry said today.

WATCH SITUATION
But I hardly think any such thing has happened or the federal farm board, whose representatives have set in on our more important conferences, would have informed us before this time. We are watching the situation with extreme interest.

Outside of peaches there is little possibility of increasing packs of California fruits or vegetables. The apricot pack this year was limited to 2,955,000 cases, or less than half the 1929 figure, because of a big carryover from an abnormal pack last year. Pears and other less im-

BOY SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

William, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Herberg, 710 W. Winnebago-st., was slightly cut about the head when he was struck by an automobile driven by Herman Ludwig, 1905 W. Winnebago-st., about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon on Winnebago-st. The boy was standing on the north curbing and started to run across the street to the south side and ran directly in the path of Ludwig's machine. The boy got up and ran to his home before the driver could learn his name, Ludwig reported to the police station.

REIS INVITES ATTACK ON HIS PLATFORM

Waupaca — (P) — "I have the peculiar idea that a candidate for attorney general ought to occasionally give expression to a legal suggestion," Alvin C. Reis, candidate for attorney general, said in a campaign speech here last night. "I have laid down a legal program to curb chain banking. Let someone shoot at it. My ideas on taxation and utilities are before the public. Let's have an argument. It is on such issues that conflicting candidates may clash and let the people make their choice."

Important canning fruits are about normal this year.

The asparagus pack, finished in June, totaled 2,663,191 cases, which is only slightly below the 1929 figure and is well above the average of recent years. The spinach pack was held to a million and a half cases because the market was over-supplied last year with production at more than four million cases. Though it is not yet put up, abnormal demand cannot greatly enlarge it because canners decide before plantings are made what they will can and contract accordingly.

Of course California food growers and packers are interested in the effects the drought will have on prices of coast products, but it is impossible to determine yet whether the effect will be lessened demand owing to impaired buying power or increased demand owing to shortage of home grown products in the regions affected.

FEWER CANDIDATES FOR STATE OFFICES THAN 2 YEARS AGO

Twenty-seven File Papers Seeking Nominations at Primary

BY EWALD L. ALMEN
(Associated Press Correspondent)
Madison—(AP)—Nomination papers filed with the secretary of state show a material reduction in the number of candidates this year as compared with 1928, with the possible exception of candidates for the state assembly.

The number of candidates for state offices, the state senate and congress have decreased as compared with 1928. Explanation for the decrease lies chiefly in the fact that 1928 was a presidential election year. Inasmuch as elections to the state senate occur only in odd numbered districts this year, this may also have affected the number of candidates.

In 1928 there were 57 candidates for congress among the four parties in Wisconsin. This year the number has dwindled to 40. Likewise with the major state offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer and attorney general, the number of candidates have decreased from 32 in 1928 to 27 this year. In 1928 there were 41 candidates for the state senate while this year there are only 35.

The number of candidates for the assembly is not known inasmuch as only candidates in district of more than one county must file with the secretary of state. Others file nomination papers with county clerks.

In the districts comprising more than one county—of which there are seven—there are 29 candidates this year while in 1928 there were 22, despite 1928 being a presidential election year.

A large increase in the number of assembly candidates is forecast by some observers as a result of the increased compensation to be paid legislators beginning with the next session. Prior to this time, legislators have been paid $500 for a two-year term. The last legislature increased the compensation to $2400 for the biennium.

With one exception, there are as many or more candidates in the districts of more than one county this year than in 1928. In the Florence-Forest-Onondaga district there are 10 candidates this year compared with four in 1928. The number of candidates increased by one in the Adams-Marquette district, the Burnett-Washburn district and the Iron-Vilas district. Of the above mentioned counties only Onondaga favored an increase in legislators' pay when the question was propounded in the 1928 referendum.

All political parties have reduced their number of candidates for the major state offices this year. In 1928 there were 14 Republicans, 7 Democrats, 5 Socialists and 6 members of the Prohibition party on the state tickets. This year the Republicans are running 11, the Democrats have reduced to five while the Socialists and Prohibitionists are again running as many as in 1928.

In 1928 the Republicans had 31

Congressional candidates while this year there are only 24. The Democrats had 17 in 1928 and have 11 in 1930. This year the Prohibition party has two candidates for congress as compared to six in 1928. Socialists have three, the same number as in the last election.

The unofficial list of candidates filed with the secretary of state on or before Aug. 12, the last day of filing, follows:

Sheboygan—Forty airplanes, ranging in size from Carl J. Kohler's Aerona, 400-horsepower glider, to two huge 12-passenger Ford tri-motor ships, will participate in the American Legion convention air meet at the Kohler airport next Wednesday afternoon, August 29, Lieut. Eddie Shurick, director of the show, has announced.

The program will include, in addition, formal dedication of the Kohler airport, with addresses by Maj. Gen. Frank B. Parker, commander of the sixth corps army area and Gov. Walter J. Kohler.

A squadron of nine army pursuit planes from Selfridge field, Detroit, will engage in various aerial maneuvers and exhibitions of formation flying shortly after the dedicatory services and there will be bombing contests, a dead stick landing competition, stunt flying, balloon bursting and a triple parachute jump.

Smart buyers

are getting bigger tire values now than ever before!

Competitive conditions are tightening up in the tire business.

When this happens, high-powered salesmanship usually takes on an extra head of steam.

But don't be confused when the tire dealer with something "special" to sell backs you into a corner.

Just remember the one fact — after years of experience, after testing this value and that, "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be a valid reason for this. There is: Goodyear Tires are definitely superior, in the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

These superiorities are not sales claims; they are real.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value.

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better — and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

Now is the time to get yours.

Entries For City Golf Tournament Will Close Aug. 22

JUNIOR C. OF C. SPONSORING MEET FOR ALL GOLFERS

First and Second Place Winners Will Be Awarded Prizes

ENTRIES for the junior chamber of commerce city open golf tournament to be held during the week Aug. 23 to Sept. 1, will close at noon, Friday, Aug. 22, according to announcement made by committee in charge Thursday.

At a recent meeting of groups arranging for the tourney, it was decided that entrants will be classified according to their playing averages and placed in five flights. The committee will post averages and players will be allotted them. The plan will eliminate the necessity of having a player who shoots 90 competing against someone who can click the 18 holes in 75. R. F. Connell is chairman of the flights committee.

Golfers who enter the tourney have been asked to submit with their entry blanks, their last scores in 10 nine hole rounds or for 15 hole rounds. The average then will be taken and the result will determine the player's flight after he has competed in the qualifying round.

The qualifying round will be played Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 23 and 24, and match play in the various flights will begin Monday after pairings have been made. The finals in all flights are scheduled for Labor Day, Sept. 1. If the entry lists in flights are too large, medal play may be substituted for match play.

ENTRY FEE IS $2
An entry fee of $2 is being assessed against golfers who enter. The amount also takes care of the fee for the 18 hole qualifying round, according to Wilmer Jennerjahn, chairman of the registration committee. Entry blanks can be secured at the Roach Sport Shop, the Y. M. C. A., and at any of the city's three golf courses. Indication as to the tourney will bring out a record list of players.

The winner in the championship flight will receive a cup which he will retain for a year, according to Robert Kohlbr, chairman of the prize committee. When a contestant wins the cup three times, it will become his permanent possession. Second place winners in each flight also will be rewarded.

Members of the various committees arranging for the tourney are flight committee, R. F. Connell, chairman, Earl Bellinger, Otto Burster, Joseph Kerrigan, Jim Lucke, Al Nitz, Harry Parton, and H. E. Williamsen.

Rules committee, Fred Bender, chairman, David Bender, C. Below, R. Englesby, Jacques Puckette, Don White, Harold Brautigan.

Registration committee, Wilmer Jennerjahn, chairman, Ev Draeger, William Hayes, H. Hendricks, V. Holterman, M. Grishaber, W. Wolfe.

JIM NUTHALL SAYS SISTER WILL WIN
Younger Brother of English Girl Star Will Compete in Men's Tourney

Forest Hills, N. Y. — (AP) — To 19-year-old Jimmy Nuthall, his sister, Betty, 15, is one of the greatest women tennis players in the world and may yet succeed Helen Wills Moody as queen of the courts—but he can beat her.

Young Jimmy admitted as much with a smile at the West Side tennis club after practice session.

"Yes, I can beat my sister," remarked this 6 foot 1 inch English boy who won the junior championship of his country last year. "That is the difference between the men's and the women's game. But Betty surely has improved greatly since last year. I think that you will follow her lead in the United States women's championships here next week you will agree with me."

Incidentally, Betty's 14 brother may cause some trouble in the men's championships beginning Sept. 6.

Jimmy also is to play in the national doubles tournament at Brookline, Mass., Aug. 18, paired with Red Avey, the young Cambridge resident who appeared in the country last season, and he and Betty probably will pair in mixed doubles. So says her 15-year-old champion.

Brooklyn Bats Pound Out 15 And 5 Victory Over Cubs; Giants Win

American League Leaders All Win Games; Standings Unchanged

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)
As long as the Brooklyn Robins can keep on slugging the ball, the collapse of their pennant hopes, which has been rumored every time they have lost more than one or two games in a row, seems unlikely. Supporters of their rivals, principally the Chicago Cubs, were beginning to celebrate the Brooklyn downfall after the Robins had lost five straight games and had dropped the opener of the current "crucial" series as Chicago won its sixth straight.

But the Robins slugging reappeared yesterday and showed there still is plenty of life in the Flatbush team. A game behind and apparently headed for a worse position, the Robins overcame all their weaknesses by the sheer power of their bats.

DAVIS CUP PLAYERS STILL IN NET MEET

Tilden, Van Ryn, Mangin, Bell Reach Quarter Finals at Rye

Rye, N. Y. — (AP) — Four members of the Davis cup squad, paced by Big Bill Tilden, two southerners and a pair of continental players, today advanced to the quarter finals in the fight for the men's singles tennis title as the eastern grass courts championships reached the quarter final round.

The survivors in the mens division are Tilden, John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Texas, all Davis cup team members. Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, intermediate champion, Ted Burwell, Charlotte, N. C., Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., No. 2 on the national list, and Richard Murphy, Harvard freshman star from Utica, N. Y.

The women's singles, also advanced to the final eight stage, lacks some of the competitive quality of the men's division. With Edith Cross eliminated yesterday, the hopes of California, based on Marjorie Gladman, of Santa Monica, and Helen Marlowe, of Los Angeles, Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., Mrs. J. Dallas Corbier, of East Stamford, Conn., Mary Greif, of Kansas City, Clara Zinke, of Cincinnati, Baroness Giacomo Levi, of Italy, and Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, complete the quarter finals list.

ST. PAUL OPEN DRAWING GOLFERS

Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour Expected to Arrive Thursday

St. Paul, Minn. — (AP) — Arriving by plane, automobile and train, the country's top flight professionals began their first serious workouts today on the Keller course, where the St. Paul $10,000 open starts Friday.

Flocks of birds and eagles have sprung from the 6,552 yard par 72 layout since yesterday, with the result several have nominated themselves as pre-tournament favorites. Johnny Farrell, Mamaronock, N. Y., leads the list by virtue of a 67. Behind him comes Gene Sarazen of Fushing, N. Y., who carded a 68, and Harry Cooper of Glen Ellyn, Ill., with a 69.

Johnny Dawson, unattached Chicago player, is ranked among those who are expected to finish close to the top by virtue of a 69 Tuesday, but he needed a 73, one over par, yesterday.

Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour, who are expected to arrive today will be among those applying the final test to the course, which is expected to draw 280 participants for the four rounds.

MERCHANTS PLAY TWO GAMES OVER WEEKEND

Appleton Merchants of the Central Wisconsin baseball league will give their supporters a double measure of reward Sunday afternoon for whatever the boys and girls put in the last. Two Merchants are booked to play Murphy's Corners Sunday and because they have a game hanging over from early in the season, two battles will be staged. The first game will begin at 1 o'clock.

Two more for the Merchants over the Corners will be about even up the league race. The Appleton club now leads by a half game with only a few more weeks left to play. Two wins will go a long way toward accomplishing the task of winning the flag.

AL LIETHAN TO PLAY WITH U. W. GRIDDEERS
Al Liethan, one of Appleton's contributions to the university of Wisconsin football squad has been declared eligible for competition this fall, according to reports emanating from Madison. Liethan played center and guard on last season's eleven, during the early weeks of the campaign.

Harvey Krahsh, another Appleton gridder was declared ineligible last week, leaving only three Appleton boys on the squad. Liethan, Liethan, and Bob Ashman, the latter the are end.

and once more placed themselves in a virtual tie for the lead. Today the Cub margin is only two points instead of the hoped for two games as the result of the 15 to 5 beating inflicted by Brooklyn yesterday.

WILSON HITS HOMER
In contrast to Tuesday's overtime game, Brooklyn went out yesterday early in the game and assaulted Guy Bush for enough runs to win in the first three innings. Bush fell before the booming Brooklyn bats in the third frame, which saw the Robins pile up a 5-0 lead. Four successors were only so many victims as the Robins hammered out 18 hits for 24 bases. The Cubs made 16 blows, one of them Jack Wilson's fourth home run, but with little effect.

Meanwhile, the New York Giants were having about as much difficulty in their attempt to stay on the heels of the leaders. The Giants had to come from behind in the ninth and score two runs to tie the Cincinnati Reds in the opener of their series. And it took a homer by Fred Lindstrom with Citz on base in the tenth to give them a 7 to 6 victory. As rain at St. Louis kept the Cards and Boston idle, the victory enabled the Giants to pick up a half game lost through Tuesday's idleness. The same rain benefited the Pittsburgh Pirates, who came from behind to defeat the Phillies, 8 to 4.

A. L. LEADERS WIN
The three American league leaders failed to produce any change in their standing, Philadelphia, Washington and New York all coming out ahead of their western rivals. The champions on Athletics made it three straight over Cleveland by a 7 to 2 score as George Earnshaw won his eighteenth victory of the year.

Washington's Senators piled up an early lead of five runs their old mate, Garland Braxton, then kept the Chicago White Sox from turning their 14 hits into runs to win by a 7 to 4 count. The New York Yankees put on a similar performance, scoring enough runs in the first five frames to offset a sudden weakness on the part of George Pipgras and defeat Detroit, 10 to 8.

The St. Louis Browns reversed the previous day's decision, beating the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 2, and gaining a tie in games won; Chicago for sixth place.

WALKER WILL FIGHT ON COAST, SEPT. 15
Los Angeles — (AP) — Jack Doyle, fight promoter, announced today he signed Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, to meet an unchosen opponent in a ten-round fight here Sept. 15.

Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, said Doyle could pick any middleweight, light heavyweight or heavyweight available to meet the champion as far as he was concerned.

Records for the early part of the American league season show that the tremendous waste in baseballs does not come from home runs, hit out of parks, nor from balls scuffed or scuffed in play. The waste comes from balls hit into the stands and since the American league clubs no longer make a serious effort to retrieve those captured by fans, any ball hit into the stands is counted as lost.

In the first 249 games played by American league clubs—33 in each city—a total of 6,306 balls were used. Of these 3,574 or more than 50 per cent were lost in the stands.

The greatest number of balls used during the 30 games mentioned was in the Chicago White Sox game. A total of 645 were necessary in the six games and of these 562 were lost in the huge stands that are dotted all over almost the entire playing field. In a single game at Comiskey park, 24 were hit into the stands and lost. The smallest number used during the 30 game period in any one park was 662 and of these 414 disappeared into the seats.

Since the minimum number of baseballs used by any American league club in 1929 was 550 dozen and the maximum 750 dozen the item of supplying these important sinews for our national game is rather a costly one and the magnates cannot be blamed for wanting to practice a bit of economy.

CUBS AND BRUINS AT IT AGAIN TODAY

Robins Have Slight Edge After Mauling Chicago Hurlers Yesterday

Chicago — (AP) — The Cubs and Brooklyn today were right back where they started when the Robins came to Chicago Tuesday to struggle for the leadership of the National league.

The Robins yesterday worked out a lot of meanness on an assortment of Joe McCarthy's pitchers, and gave the National league champions their worst licking of the season, along with evening the series and cutting the Bruin margin to two points.

Only three members of the Cub pitching staff were withheld from exhibition, they were ready to try to check the Flatbush hurlers today. Charlie Root, whose last performance was a three-hit victory over Boston, was the first choice, with Pat Malone and Bud Teeschout next in line.

Manager Wilbert Robinson of the eastern invaders, had Adolfo Luque, the Veteran Cuban, and Hollis Thurston, as possible for today's engagement.

During the middle ages the word "engineer" was used as the title for the military officer who planned campaigns or laid out works of defense.

Major Leagues Seek To Cut Down Cost Of Balls

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
Copyright 1930

CHICAGO — (CPA) — With baseballs costing the two major leagues approximately $150,000 per season it is small wonder club owners are intent upon reducing the waste of the great American horseshoe. The use of baseballs has been most prodigal during the past five years, reaching the point where players were accustomed to toss out a ball whenever it suited their fancies.

In an effort to reduce the waste in baseballs the American league, this year, is keeping a detailed record of the number used in each game and the figures for the first part of the season are very interesting.

American league umpires are handed the four dozen balls, otherwise for the home team to supply, before the start of each game. The umpire in chief then takes a portion of the supply and puts it in the box near the plate while the others are locked in a leather bag and removed only as needed and by the umpire. In that way the balls left over from one game are available for the next, instead of being wasted as was the case in previous years.

No balls can be thrown out of an American league game until after they have been inspected by one of the umpires. A player may be disqualified with the ball in play, suspect of being scuffed or wingy but his opinion must be approved by the umpire before a new sphere is put into play. At the start of the season E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, issued a bulletin to players ordering them to keep balls in play as long as possible and it is being well obeyed.

SHAMROCK DROPS ANCHOR IN U. S.

Arrives from England After 26 Day Voyage; Tom Coming Saturday

BY TOM MORGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
New London, Conn. — (AP) — The task of preparing the Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's newest challenger for the America's cup, began at the electric boat work yards.

She is the fifth challenger the doughty Sir Tom has sent across the Atlantic in quest of a trophy won by the yacht America in 1851. Original of the cup cost 109 guineas. Today, if it were not for the "old mug's" glamorous history, no cautious pawn broker would loan $50 on it. Yet four or five millions will have been spent this year because of it when Sir Thomas sails away in the fall, victorious or numbering his fifth defeat.

Although she was beset by head winds throughout her voyage across the Atlantic, the Shamrock V dropped here last evening after a 26-day land-to-land passage between England and the United States.

All superfluous fittings must be stripped from the Shamrock V before she is ready to cross the starting line off Newport, R. I., Sept. 13 against a defender yet to be selected from four American candidates. Those fittings include the crew's living accommodations during her stay here. The crew will be quartered on the Killarney, a former excursion boat.

The most difficult and important task in connection with Shamrock V's fitting out will be the putting in place of the top of her 162-foot mast. She came across under jury rig using only about 110 feet of her two piece spar.

Sir Thomas is expected to arrive in New York on a liner next Saturday.

Virginia Beach, Va. — (AP) — Joe Goodman, Cleveland, knocked out Ray Mitchell, Philadelphia, (4).

Valley League Gossip

A flock of valley league records went by the boards when Green Bay put the skids under Kaukauna 22 to 4. The Bays had their batting togs on and the offerings of Vnuuk and Refke were socked to all corners of the lot.

Nixon turned in one of the best pitching exhibitions of the year when he whipped Kim-Little Chute 7 to 2. The Pails' slabster allowed but five blows and not one of Marty Lammer's hirelings put foot on third base.

Appleton cut short Wisconsin Rapids' wild dash for the hunting by turning back the Huber tribe, 7 to 2. Eastling allowed only four hits but home runs by Tornow and Mulroy proved the downfall of the portlander.

The race for the flag has developed into a blanket finish with both Appleton and Green Bay having a chance to nose out the Rapids. Even the Pails and Kaws are still in a position to get out of the second division.

Vnuuk, former State league slabster, has found the going in the Valley league sort of rocky. He has lost each of his three starts but despite his reversals looks to be every inch a first-class worker on the slab.

"Stubby" Huber, Wisconsin Rapids' third sacker, had a tough time around the red light bag in the Appleton encounter. Both his miscues got Lefty Eastling in hot water and cut a figure in the Collegians' run make.

Joe Muench, the Nee-Menasha manager, has added to his baseball fame by coaching the Nee-Nah Legion nine to a state championship. The Pail youngsters are figured to go a long way in the race for the national championship.

Norm Clusman, guardian of Green Bay's third hassock, uncorked a story book homer against Kaukauna. He cleared the fence with the bases loaded in the eighth frame.

"Red" Smith, whom Kaukauna traded to Manitowoc for Vnuuk, is burning up the State league with his hitting. The sorrel-topped catcher has been connecting and last Sunday his blow in the ninth won the game for the Shipbuilders.

Dave Zuidmuller, Green Bay hurler, will have to make a quick change of costume on Sunday, Sept. 7. Early in the afternoon, he will practice with the Packer football squad and then will take the boat against Appleton.

Verstegen, the Kim-Little Chute shortstop, is developing into one of the best infielders in the Valley wheel. He can trap ground ball from nearly any position and is near "death" on the so-called Texas leaguers.

John Coppes, of Kaukauna, will probably remember his recent visit to Green Bay for many a moon. The fans had a lot of fun with the Kaukauna veteran but he smiled his way through all the barrages of "razberries."

COLONELS FALTER, BUT SO DO OTHER ASSOCIATION CLUBS

Mills Take Kerns for Ride as Indians Beat Saints, Blues Down Hens

CHICAGO—(P)—Louisville has not been getting along any too brilliantly during the last 10 days in its pursuit of the American association title, but its chief rivals, St. Paul and Toledo, have done no better.

Minneapolis arose yesterday and trimmed the Colonels, 5 to 3, but Indians defeated the Saints, and Kansas City took another from Toledo. John Brillheart pitched fine baseball to halt the Colonels, keeping 10 hits far enough apart to prevent serious damage. Minneapolis clinched the decision in the eighth when three runs were shoved over.

Kansas City staged a closing rush that wiped out Toledo's early advantage and gave the Blue a 5 to 4 victory. The winning runs were generated by a walk, Norman McMillan's triple and a sacrifice by Nicholson.

Indianapolis jumped onto Slim Harris and Hankins for 13 hits and an 8 to 4 win over St. Paul, leaving the Saints still three and one-half games behind Louisville. The Saints scored three runs in the first inning, but the Indians came back with two in their half, and added three more in the second, to set up a safe margin.

Columbus spotted Milwaukee a five-run lead in the first three innings, but whipped up in the next three for enough runs to stand off another Brewer uprising and assumed a 12 to 11 lead. Six more runs in the eighth merely served to fatten Senator batting averages. All told, Columbus got 19 hits, while Milwaukee got 16, including homers by Gerken, Christensen and Buck Stanton.

Manager Marty Berghammer of the Brewers, indefinitely suspended Pitcher Ed Strelecki and fired him $100 for indifferent playing, while manager Nemo Leibold of Columbus, benched Bud Purdy, outfielder, for the same reason.

CRUDE RUBBER AT LOWEST PRICE; NO IMPROVEMENT SEEN

British and Dutch Interests Hope to Restrict Production

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Washington—Crude rubber has reached the lowest price on record and the prospect for better conditions is regarded by authorities in the department of commerce as remote. They base this opinion on advices received from foreign offices of the department.

British and Dutch interests have agreed to attempt to restrict rubber production for at least two months, but they are not entirely in harmony, according to C. W. Morris, acting chief of the commerce department. The difficulty, Mr. Morris said, seems to be that the Dutch hesitate to control the production of the small native growers in their territory. These natives produce a large part of the output and a curtailment would mean distress and disaster to them.

Rubber producers have felt keenly the reduction in output of automobiles in the United States and in the other producing countries. As a result, rubber stocks have piled up that are unprecedented in the history of the industry.

FEW TAKE ADVANTAGE

There has been little apparent tendency on the part of American manufacturers to take advantage of the present low rubber prices, according to Mr. Morris. Many factories which have large stocks of goods made from high-priced rubber have had to take losses, but many have now got rid of their high-priced crude. The low prices have done something toward encouraging the use of rubber but this trend is slow. The major users continue to be the tire manufacturers.

Some hope is expressed by the rubber men that greater demand will result from the move of five big oil companies to sell automobile tires at their gasoline service stations. These companies include the Standard Oil of Louisiana, the Beacon Oil company and the Imperial Oil company of Canada. Service stations of these corporations cover New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and the whole of Canada.

It is anticipated that other large oil companies may follow this example, which carries out the policy of utilizing sales forces to the end that has been apparent in all lines of business in the last six months.

These service station sales undoubtedly will have an effect on the business of the mail order houses and of the regular tire dealers. Like the mail order houses, the service stations will sell tires under a trade name and have them manufactured for them by one of the large tire producers. Many automobile men believe this move will be followed by a venture of the oil companies into the automobile accessory field.

COINS KEEP TIME

London—Coins keep the famous clock, Big Ben, going. There is a tray half way down the pendulum, and if the clock is losing slightly, a half penny is placed on this tray. The effect is that the pendulum vibrates a little more quickly, and so the clock is brought gradually back to correct time. If the clock is gaining, a coin is removed from the tray.

Flashes of Life

Durham, N. H.—What a communter he would make! Clarence Demar, veteran marathon runner, kept a speaking engagement here by running 35 miles in the middle of the night after he had missed a train.

New York—Samuel Gordon sighted a beer keg 200 yards off Rockaway beach and almost lost his life attempting to bring it in. When retrieved he tapped the keg. It was filled with water.

White Plains, N. Y.—There was only one thing wrong with the election petition filed by Max Cohen, a veteran campaigner who has never won an election. He filed as Social-ist candidate for county judge, but there's no vacancy. However, said Cohen, "I'll just file another petition for something else."

New York—Here's a conundrum facing the city fathers. Pigs on Riker's island, where there is a city dump, are being killed by ferocious dogs kept on the island to kill equally ferocious rats. Employees refuse to go on the island unless accompanied by the dogs. One suggested solution is that a fence be built to protect the pigs.

London—A conversation between Queen Mary and the Very Reverend William Ralph Inge, "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's, at the recent reopening of the cathedral after extensive repairs: "What a privilege it must be to hear these wonderful services." "I can assure you, madame, I find it most irksome."

PLYWOODS RALLY TO DEFEAT LEGIONAIRES

New London—The Plywood team had quite a scare thrown up them on Wednesday evening, when at the start of the game they were outplayed by the Legionnaires. The Plywood's rally was helped along by some wild pitching by Bunkie, which gave them the game by a 6-4 score.

Edisons trampled all over the Borden team, winning by a 21-7 score. Homes runs, three baggers and loose fielding were too much for the MILK men to contend with. Larry Ioe's fielding and hitting was the only feature of this game.

The third game of the evening was a 9-6 tilt until the ninth inning, but the Hamiltons lost when Pete Westphal of the Crispy team socked a ball into the corn field for a home run.

Thinks leaves the league standings practically unchanged, with the Plywoods on top and Edisons in second place.

CALUMET-CO CROPS GOOD IN SPITE OF LONG ARID SPELL

Student Projects Pan Out Well—Yield Cut Elsewhere but Quality High

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Notwithstanding the long drought many Calumet-co farmers report an excellent yield of grain, both in bushels per acre and in quality. Edwin Seipel, a student in the agriculture course in the Chilton high school, reports that one acre of the new Wisconsin barley No. 33 yielded 72 bushels of grain, by weight, another student doing project work in connection with his agriculture course in the high school, Earl Wagner, reports a yield of about 63 bushels to the acre of the same grain. He states that the lack of moisture was noticeable on one corner of his field, which no doubt reduced the yield several bushels. His father, Otto Wagner, reported a yield of 55 bushels per acre on a field of Wisconsin barley No. 37. His No. 19 yielded 63 bushels per acre. White Cross, yielded 55 bushels per acre.

John Seipel's No. 19 oats yielded better than 65 bushels to the acre and were exceptionally heavy. His winter wheat averaged 31 bushels per acre.

Arno Pelk reports a yield of 51 bushels on about 11 acres from his father's State's Field oats No. 7. The T farm reported about 50 bushels to the acre on an acre field Forward Oats (Ped. 1241).

Other farmers who have not yet threshed, reports that while the drought may have reduced the yield somewhat the quality is very high.

One of the most recent methods of making two waistlines grow where none grew before is by means of diagonal straps, or the dress goods, one above and one below the normal waist. The straps fasten with big buttons and imitate belts.

LEVI-ST MAY SOON BE RENAMED ROOSEVELT-ST

E. and W. Levi-st will soon be renamed E. and W. Roosevelt-st if an ordinance now under consideration is finally adopted by the common council. Residents on the street apparently became tired of the present name, selected Roosevelt after some consideration, and told their aldermen, Philipp Vogt, about their desire. Alderman Vogt brought the matter up at a recent council meeting.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Maysie Greig

SYNOPSIS: Mary Lou Leslie comes to London to visit her cousins and Brynmor Whitmore, her sweetheart of last summer. Since then Brynmor has fallen in love with Clarice Day a night club dancer. He welcomes Mary Lou without enthusiasm, and she is frustrated. Brynmor takes her to the Emerald Dragon, where Clarice dances, and excuses himself to talk with the dancer. Thoroughly embarrassed, Mary Lou accepts the invitation of Tony Tithering, a total stranger to dance. Outside Clarice's dressing room she happens to hear Brynmor tell Clarice that she, Mary Lou, is "too darn nice." Mary Lou resolves to show Brynmor just how "nice" she can be. When Brynmor returns, she censures him for his conduct and an argument ensues between Brynmor and Tony. As Tony knocks Brynmor to the floor, someone shouts that police are raiding the club.

Chapter 3

IN TONY'S PYJAMAS

TONY acted quickly. The sudden commotion had sobered him. He seized Mary Lou by the arm, and fled with her through a service exit.

A minute or two later Mary Lou found herself pushed through a back window onto a fire escape.

"Where - where do we go now?" she gasped.

"Run down to the third floor," Tony commanded. "Then climb along that little balcony to the next building. We can get into my flat through the bathroom window."

Mary Lou had wanted excitement, but this, she felt, was rather overdoing it.

"Why can't we go out the same way as I came in?" she asked.

Tony explained impatiently. "Don't you understand? The place is raided. Haven't you ever been in a club during a raid?"

"No," said Mary Lou.

"What a girl!" said Tony. His tone implied, "The girl hasn't lived!"

She started the treacherous descent. When they reached the ledge Tony went first and gave her his hand.

"I've done this several times," he murmured, by way of encouragement. "Thank heavens, I left the bathroom window open. Steady there. Now jump through."

Mary Lou jumped. The next thing she knew she was spluttering and gasping in a tub full of water.

"I am sorry," he exclaimed. "I completely forgot I left the bally bath tub full!"

He switched on the light. Mary Lou was sitting up in the bath, water streaming out of her nose and her mouth.

"This is awful," Tony murmured. "I'm beastly sorry. What can I do?"

Mary Lou climbed out of the tub and shook herself. "I don't know what you can do," she replied, "but I'm horribly cold."

"You must be," sympathized Tony. He continued to stare at Mary Lou. Her short fair hair had tightened into ringlets. Since she used no rouge it hadn't run. Her face looked fresh, clean, and rather sweet.

"My dear Mary Lou you've missed the bus by a century, haven't you?"

"What do you mean?"

He reached for a cigarette. "You're about a hundred years out of date. They liked nice modest girls - then."

The "nice" stung Mary Lou. It was the second time that night she had heard the adjective applied to herself.

"But I don't want to be nice and modest," she told him. "That doesn't get you anywhere. I learned that tonight."

"Oh!" he smiled, "you're frightfully naive."

"I suppose I am," she admitted. "If I weren't, I don't suppose I'd have believed Brynmor last summer." Her voice was choked. "I believed all the things he told me. And tonight when I realized that it had only been a summer flirtation for him, I was hurt - terribly. That's - that's why I danced with you when you asked me."

"And I thought it was my magnetic personality," Tony sighed mockingly.

"I suppose if I'd been sensible and modern," she resumed. "I'd have looked on our affair the same way he did - an amusing experience. But I thought it was real. Do you think, if I hadn't, I would have come to London today?"

She paused breathlessly.

"I'm glad I did give him that black eye," Tony murmured.

"I was so looking forward to these two weeks in town," she went on. "And now..." She stiffened a little with a jerk. "I will have a good time, despite him. I don't care what I do!"

Tony swung his other leg over the arm of the chair. "How are you going to have this good time without him?"

She shook her head. The rebellious light died in her eyes.

"I don't know,"

Is Mary Lou's London visit to be a failure? Tomorrow her prospects for a good time appear brighter.

Financial And Market News

MARKET RALLIES AFTER BEARS TRY TO GAIN CONTROL

Most Losses Are Regained
and a Few Advances Are Shown

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—After another effort to depress prices through recent resistance levels, the disorganized mob of bears lost courage and retreated further in today's stock market.

Stocks were generally reduced 10 to 20 points during the early hours of trading, but stocks were well taken in the decline, arousing some fear in bear circles that important banking interests may be offering support to the market around recent low levels. Most early losses were substantially more than cancelled, although weak spots continued to stand out here and there.

Such wide moving issues as American Tobacco B, Allied Chemical, Atchafalpa and Case gained 5 points and more, Case getting more than 20 points above its recent low. Shares recording gains of 2 to 4 points in included Radio, Eastman, Union Carbide, American Smelting, Public Service of N. J., and Electric Auto Lite, advances of a point or so were numerous in important shares.

Weak features were Republic Steel, breaking more than 4 points to a new low in selling based on disquieting gossip over the dividend, and the International Paper and Power issues, which broke to new bottom levels for the year. The class A dividend has recently been paid from surplus, and bears argued that the dividend would adversely affect the company's hydroelectric properties.

As the market has approached the low levels of June, the courage of the bears has ebbed. Selling appeared to have dried up, and with the unfavorable factors of the business news largely discounted, professional traders waited for new developments in the business situation before committing themselves for anything beyond a quick turn.

LITTLE IN NEWS
The day's news failed to provide any guide posts. A further cut in copper metal prices by some custom smelters from 11 to 103 cents, reducing the metal to the lowest prices in more than 29 years, was regarded primarily as an effort to move stocks, but brought some selling early in the day. Kennecott directors met for dividend action next week, and Wall Street understands a further reduction in the payment may be ordered.

Wall Streets saw a fleeting glimmer of improvement in the steel outlook with announcement that steel scrap prices had been advanced 25 cents a ton at Pittsburgh, but this was later explained as reflecting a scarcity of first grade material rather than any increase in demand from the mills.

Speculative sentiment has rarely been as perplexed and confused as it is at the moment. Some commission houses look for lower prices after the technical rally is completed and most advocate a sideline position. The fact that the volume of selling has decreased with each successive bear drive, however, has provided grounds for hope in some quarters that the market may be about to rebound. Brokerage circles have interpreted its recent action as indicating that stocks are strongly held, and that only some wholly unexpected and particularly grave news from business would be likely to induce any general liquidation. In the meantime, however, weak situations continue to crop out, which damages confidence.

Call money renewed at 2 1/2 per cent, but was active in 1900 supply in the outside market at 2. The broken age loan figures, to be announced late in the day, were expected to show a large decline.

DEMAND STIFFENS AND BOND PRICES IMPROVE

New York (AP)—Institutions showed a disposition today to bid for a few high grade railroad and utility bonds at or slightly above their best prices of the year. Otherwise the trading in bonds on the New York Stock exchange was routine affair.

New financing totaled about $20,000,000 in all municipal issues. The City of Detroit offered $10,000,000 5 per cent tax anticipation notes, which were bid at 100 1/2. Virginia placed $5,000,000 4 1/2 per cent high water bonds on the market.

The market displayed a firm tone. Some of the leading obligations of railroads and public utilities were in demand and the few gains of any consequence were in these groups. Speculative interest was of a nominal character which was reflected in the dullness of convertible issues. The foreign list was stable. In the absence of any new issues to add glamour to foreign dollar bonds, there has been little trading in these issues by American investors, and the advances made by leading issues, such as French and Belgian bonds of late has been due largely to buying for foreign account.

Canadian National made another new high for the year. Norfolk and Western, Division 4, an inactive issue, reached a new peak. American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Union B, Rock Island 4s and New York Telephone 4 1/2s sold at the best prices of the year. Chesapeake and Ohio 4 1/2s, Erie 4s and 4 1/2s, New York Central 4s, Southern Railway 4s were firm.

NEWS PUBLISHERS PROTEST AGAINST RATE INCREASES

Canadian Carriers Would Boost Rates on Paper,
Paper Articles

BY RUBY A. BLACK

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Protesting against the high rates and increases proposed by Canadian carriers on paper, paper articles, and winding covers, from Canada and destinations west of Mississippi River, and certain points in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and northern Michigan, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association has filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Canadian carriers were asked, by the I. C. C., at the beginning of the general newspaper paper rate investigation to file a schedule of rates on this product which they thought reasonable. The Canadian carriers have filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This particular brief was intended to deal principally with the rates from Canada to points not included in the general investigation. The points in Wisconsin considered in it are north of the Milwaukee-Madison-Watertown line.

According to the brief, although Canadian carriers claimed that they used the same mileage basis as proposed by American carriers from Minnesota and Wisconsin, in arriving at their proposed rates, they used this basis only when it would cause an increase in the rate.

No changes in the rates from Fox River group to the west were proposed. However, the brief argues that since the scale basis was not used from the Fox River group, it shows a weakness in it. It would be the only proper basis for a change in Fox River rates if a change were to be made, if it were a proper basis for rate making from any point, says the brief. If it were applied to the Fox River group, it would increase rates which are now about 30 cents per 100 pounds to 38 cents. The rate advocated by the Canadian carriers make increases ranging from 1.5 cents to 15.5 cents per 100 pounds, and to destinations considered in the general investigation, there would be increases as high as 26.5 cents.

The results from the application of the suspended schedule would include, great financial burdens laid upon newspaper publishers, and disruption of important rate relationships, including many rates established in the Minnesota and Ontario case, the Publishers say.

The Newspaper Publishers Association warns against too liberal belief in the carriers' claim that the present rates are too low, and are "missionary rates" established to aid a young business get on its feet.
